RANSOMED BY HASTINGS.

Nineteen Pennsylvanians in a Delaware Pillory Are Made Happy by Our Chief Executive.

New Castle, Del., Aug. 20.—Governor Hastings, of Pennsylvania, yesterday after inspecting the naval Reserve at Augustine Pier, Del., was landed here, where he had to wait thirty-five minutes with his staff for the next train for Philadelphia. In the interval the party visited the whipping post and pillory, where they amused themselves by throwing silver coins among the prisoners, who crowded around them. While the prisoners scrambled for the coins the governer playfully plied the cato' nine tails on their backs.

As the governor was about to leave he turned to the attorney-general and remarked:

"I think I'll release all the Pennsylvania prisoners in this jail."

To do it needed but a payment of 25 cents for each man to enable him to make an affidavit to the effect that he was a pauper and unable to pay his fine. There were nineteen prisoners who hailed from the Keystone state and accordingly Gov. ernor Hastings paid the warden $4.75, and the nineteen made the required affidavits and were immediately released.

Will Be Investigated.

Pittsburg, August 20.—From evidence secured by County Coroner McDowell this morning, regarding the mysterious death of Miss Lida B. Vance, the young Allegheny dressmaker, who died at the house of Miss Emma Jones on Sunday morning last, the coroner has determined that the case merits a thorough investigation. The coroner ordered a postmortem examination to determine whether or not any crime had been committed. Several parties are reported as implicated in the young lady's death and sensational developments are expected. In the meantime detectives are at work securing all possible evidence bearing upon the mystery surrounding the affair. This afternoon Detectives McDonald and Steel arrested Dr. Anderson, of Allegheny, in Pittsburg, and took him to the coroner's office. Earlier in the day the report was current that Dr. Anderson and Galbraith, a street car concuctor, implicated in the case, had disappeared.

Multum in Parvo.

"Much in little" this sentence means. It has almost become a proverb, because the expression can be used in so many instances. In no instance, however, can this saying be used with greater propriety than in speaking of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. There is indeed much in a little vial of them—there is a cure for many a headache—relief from dpepepsia, biliousness, constipation, colic and piles and restoration to health and happines such good in little space.

Terror of the Border Killed.

El Paso, Texas, Aug. 20.—John Wesley Hardin, the terror of the border, was shot and killed in the Acme saloon of this city last night by constable John Sellman. Sellman arrested Hardin's mistress for being disorderly a few nights ago, and yesterday Hardin threatened to run Sellman out of town. The men in the saloon and Sellman got the first drop. Hardin had a record of killing nine men.

SEVEN LIVES WERE LOST.

A Small Boat Was Overcrowded and a Panic Ensued.

Ocean City, Md., Aug. 18.—Seven lives paid the penalty yesterday for the overcrowding of a small boat and the unreasoning fright of the women aboard who, by springing to one side when the little craft shipped some water, over turned it and threw its occupants into the water. The boat contained ten people and of these ten only three were rescued when the boat capsized. The dead are: W. Storrs, aged 45 years; Mrs. L. Storrs, his wife, aged 38; their two daughters, Ida May and Eva, aged respectfully 14 and 16 years; Lula and Lena Hall, sisters aged 16 and 18 years respectively, of Bishopville, and Miss Myrtle Stevens aged 14 years, of Selbyville Del. The Storrs family were residents of Philadelphia and lived at 4849 Lancaster avenue. The bodies of Storrs, his wife and two daughters and Miss Stevens have been recovered, but those of the Hall girls are still in the water. The bodies were in a horrible state when drawn to the surface. The crabs had eaten them and the flesh was torn from their face, the eyes gouged out and the fingers chewed off to the knuckles.

Unavailing efforts were made to-day to find the Hall girls and the search for them will be resumed to-morrow.

Pittsburg, Aug. 19.—There is a rumor in this city that an excursion boat was wrecked down the river during the heavy storm last evening and many persons drowned. No particulars are at hand at this hour.—1 a. m.—and the report cannot be verified.

One Italian Kills Another.

Chester, Pa., August 18.—Emides Volpe shot and killed Jenerose Coligeno between 12 and 1 o'clock this morning at the home of the former at Felton, a suburb of Chester, on the line of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. The men are Italians, and after the shooting Volpe came to this city and gave himself up.

His statement is that Coligeno had entered the room of his 15-year old daughter Lizzie by means of a back door. Her screams awakened her father who was sleeping down stairs and he seized a double barrel shot gun and fired one shot at the intruder and ordered him away. Coligeno threatened to kill Volpe and the latter then fired a second time. The contents of the barrel tore a hole in the left breast of Coligeno and entered his heart, killing him instantly. The victim was 26 years of age and dangerous, according to the statements of several of his countrymen and was known to be always armed. The affair has caused much excitement among the Italians.

Investigating Sweat Shops.

Harrisburg, August 17.—Deputy Factory Inspector William S. Milligan, of Philadelphia, had a talk yesterday with Factory Inspector Campbell relative to the investigation of sweat shops in the Second police district of Philadelphia, in which over 400 places have been officially visited and 250 found to be conducted in violation of the law regulating sweat-shops. The Third police district will next be covered by Deputy Inspector Milligan and his agents and the Chinese quarters will be among the places to be investigated.

Small Beginnings

Make great endings sometimes. Ailment that we are apt to consider trivial often grow, through neglect, into atrocious maladies, dangerous in themselves and productive of others. It is the disregard of the earlier indications of ill health which leads to the establishment of all sorts o maladies on a chronic basis. Moreovers there are certain disorders incident to the season, malaria and rheumatism, against which it is always desirable to fortify the system after exposure to the conditions which produce them. Cold, damp and miasma are surely counteracted by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. After you hav incurred risk from these influences a wine glassful or two of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters directly afterward should be swallowed For malaria, dyspepsia, liver complaint kidney and bladder trouble, nervousness and debility it is the most deservedly popular of remedies and preventives. A wineglasseful before meals promotes appetite.

An Ill-Fated Family.

Colorado Springs, Col., Aug. 20.—The death of E. F. McCloskey, in the Cumry Hotel disaster in Denver, is the latest of a most remarkable series of disasters in one family. A year ago last winter one of the sons of Mr. McCloskey was drowned while skating here. The following Fourth of July another son was crippled for life by an explosion of fire works in Kansas City. Later another son was shot and seriously wounded in Cripple Creek. A few weeks ago Mrs. McCloskey was burned to death in a gasoline explosion and her daughter was frightfully wounded.

MANY NARROW ESCAPES.

Report of Damages by Storms at Pittsburg and Allegheny.

Pittsburg, Aug. 19.—Reports of damages caused by the storm which swept over a portion of Pittsburg and Allegheny continue. The numerous accounts of narrow escapes from flying wreckage render it remarkable that there were no fatalities. The high wind and heavy rain were accompanied by hail. During the storm there was much sharp lightning, but no damage resulted from this cause. A number of buildings in various parts of Pittsburg and Allegheny suffered damage to roofs and chimneys. The telegraph and telephone wires, including the fire alarm and patrol systems, were badly demoralized. The heaviest individual loss from the storm was that caused by damage to the frame work of Henderson, Johnson & Company's grain elevator, in process of erection on Carson street. The damage, while of itself is not serious by reason of the storm, is of a nature that will require the work to be done over, which will cost about $20,000.

Near Bedford avenue a new unoccupied house collapsed and a portion of the walls fell upon a frame dwelling occupied by Mrs. Daily and one child and Mrs. Pryor and three children. Two of the Pryor family and Mrs. Daily and her child were in the debris. They were speedily rescued and were uninjured.

River craft suffered seriously. Millie Linbaugh, stewardess of the steamer Lud Keefer, went down with the boat and was drowned. An unknown woman is said to have been blown from the Point bridge into the river and drowned. Patrick Shea, fireman at the West End electric power house, was badly injured by falling timber. John Adams, conductor on a Second avenue electric car, was badly shocked while removing a wire from the track. His condition is precarious. Two men who occupied a shanty on the Allegheny side of the Ohio river, are missing. It is feared they were drowned.

The storm was altogether local and in the fifteen minutes of its duration nearly one-half an inch fell. The total damage to property in the two cities is estimated it about $100,000.

To Use Leather Tires.

A couple of centuries ago a poet sang the praises of leather and told the world there was nothing like it. Bicycle manufacturers have long been looking for a more reliable and puncture proof tire for bicycles than rubber. Steel, whalebone and other springs have been tried as substitutes for inner tubes but none prove satisfactory. One manufacturer believes "there is nothing like leather" and proposes to use it instead of rubber for outer tubes. Lightness, impenetrability, great resistance and less liability to get out of shape are some of the advantages claimed for the new material.

Railroad Official Censured.

Norristown, Pa., Aug. 19.—The inquest in the case of the killing of the famous artist, Thomas Hovenden, and little Bessie Pifer, on the Pennsylvania railroad in Plymouth township several days ago, was concluded this afternoon. Nineteen witnesses were heard, and the jury found a verdict censuring the railroad officials for their neglect in not having a watchman or safety gate at the crossing. The testimony of most of the witnesses was to the effect that Mr. Hovenden lost his life in an accidental manner and not in trying to save the life of the child.

Gold Vein Will Soon Be Struck.

Pottsville, Pa., Aug. 19.—The gold hunters in the Mahantongo valley, Schuylkill county, have driven a drift into the side of the mountain, a distance of 100 feet, and from thence have sunk a slope about thirty feet. In their progress the indications continue to prove better, and it is believed a gold vein will soon be struck. Assayists from Philadelphia and New York have assayed the ore and claim that it yielded $7 to the ton, A half dozen stampers have been erected.

Found Guilty of Embezzling.

Philadelphia, August 20.—Thomas M Grady, a former cashier of the First National bank of Marietta, was to-day found guilty in the United States district court of embezzling the funds of the institution and making false entries in the bank books. Judge Butler sentenced him to seven years' imprisonment in the eastern penitentiary and imposed a fine of $100 and costs. Grady was defended by ex-Attorney General Hensel, who stated that no defense would be made. He addressed the court in the prisoner's behalf and asked for leniency. The Judge severely lectured Grady and then sentenced him on the hill, charging embezzlement. Grady, with the exception of the extreme pallor of his countenance, showed no emotion.

WEATHER PREDICTIONS.

Foster Tells of Storms, Cool Waves, Frosts and Earthquakes.

My last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm wave to cross the continent from the 17th to the 20th, and the next will reach the Pacific coast about the 21st, cross the west of Rockies country by the close of the 22d, great central valleys 23d to 25th and eastern states the 26th. This disturbance will be unusually severe in and west of the Rocky mountains, and the cool wave following will cause killing frosts in the upper Missouri, upper Mississippi and Red river of the North valleys.

Warm wave will cross the west of Rockies country about the 21st, great central valleys 23d and eastern states the 25th. Cool wave will cross the west of Rockies country about the 26th, great central valleys the 27th and eastern states the 28th.

Particular attention is called to the following aurora and earthquake dates. The latter will probably occur only in earthquake countries: Within a few days of Aug. 20, Sept. 17, Oct. 16 and Nov. 13 severe earthquake shocks may be expected. Near Aug. 22, Sept. 18, Oct. 15 and Nov. 12 brilliant auroras will probably be observed on the North American continent.

In my next bulletin will be given detailed forecasts of temperature, rainfall, storm waves, severe storms and frosts for September. The calculations have been carefully revised, and I expect 85 per cent. to prove correct.

Jail Delivery at Toledo.

Toledo, Ohio, Aug. 17.—To-day six prisoners in the county jail attacked Turnkey Moser, who was being shaved by a prisoner, handcuffed him and locked him in a cell, escaping by means of his keys. Munday, who murdered his wife, was at the head of the conspiracy. The others were burglars and robbers.

It was fifteen minutes before the alarm was given, and so far but one has been retaken—in Cleveland, charged with grand larceny. Detective McLaughlin found him The criminals ran, and the officer fired, the ball striking at the edge of the forehead, plowing a furrow to the head and stunning him.

The Legislature Scored.

Hollidaysburg, Aug. 17.—The Public School Teachers' and Directors' Union of Blair county held a reunion at Lakemont Park to-day. Addresses were delivered by many prominent educators. Dr. N. C. Schaffer, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, in his address scored the late Legislature or confining State aid to certain schools, instead of establishing district high schools.

He claimed that the hard times bugaboo led the Legislature to cut down the school appropriation, and said: "Soon after the Legislature adjourned the State Treasurer reported a balance in the treasury of $6,690,000. Is it wise to keep a balance of five or six millions in the treasury when with it we might build up a school system equal to that of New York or Massachusetts?"

Another Suit for Libel.

Philadelphia, August 20.—Upon the affidavit of State Senator Charles A. Porter to-day Magistrate South issued a warrant for the arrest of Benjamin T. Condon, on the charge of criminal libel. The accused is charged with having caused to be inserted in a Philadelphia paper a defamatory libel in the form of a sworn letter addressed to Robert R. Dearden, president of the republican league of the Thirty-second and Thirty-seventh wards. In the letter Condon declares that he was compelled to with draw from the fight against Mr. Porter owing to the fact the positions of relatives would be jeopardized if he supported Quay and opposed the administration forces of which Mr. Porter is a leader. Condon claims to have been intimidated by representatives of Senator Porter.

Fatalities at Harrisburg.

Harrisburg, Aug. 18.—Arthur Leslie, a young German, on his way from Chicago to Wilmington, Del., had both legs crushed while riding on a freight train last night. He died at the City hospital this afternoon.

Mrs. Annie Lee, of this city, died at the hospital this morning as the result of injuries sustained by being knocked down by a trolley car last night.

Edward Fleegar, yardmaster at Rockyille, had a leg taken off by being thrown under a train to-day.

The Conductor Was Killed.

Easton, Pa., Aug. 18.—A loaded freight train collided with an empty coal train on the Easton and Amboy railroad, near Three Springs, N. J., this afternoon. The freight engine was derailed and several cars wrecked. The conductor of the coal train was killed in the caboose. The engineer and fireman of the freight train jumped and escaped injury,

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.

Opening of the Twenty-Seventh Session of the Grand Lodge.

Reading, Pa., August 20.—The twenty-seventh annual session of the grand lodge of Pennsylvania Knights of Pythias convened here this morning with 488 delegates in attendance. The address of welcome was delivered by Mayor Shanaman and was responded to by R. H. Jackson, grand chancellor, of Pittsburg. After receiving the report of the committee on credentials the convention adjourned to witness the parade of the uniformed rank of the order this afternoon. About 1,500 men were in line and the display was one of the finest ever made by the organization in Eastern Pennsylvania.

Grand Chancellor R. H. Jackson's report shows that six lodges were organized during the year, two merged and two were dissolved. He recommends that the grand keeper of records and his assistant be paid a salary of $2,000 and $1,000 respectively.

The report of George Hawkes, keeper of records and seals, shows total receipts, $10,093.67; balance in treasury August 9, 1894, $7,769.07; disbursements as per mileage and miscellaneous orders, $12,628.47; balance on hand, $4,234.27. Present number of lodges, 488; members, 44,169; members suspended during the year, 4,028. Funds on hand and invested, $863,943.41; paid for relief of brothers, $180,611.41; paid for burial of dead, $55,877.86. The report of the committee on finance and mileage shows a decrease in receipts the past year of $1,412.83, while the expenses increased $1,443.45.

The Pennsylvania relief fund, composed of members of the order, has paid out $216,500 since its organization nine years ago. During the year ninety-nine death claims of $250 each were paid, making a total of $24,750. The fund has $12,401.50 in the treasury.

Why Barreled Apples Keep.

If apples were placed loosely in barrels they would soon rot, though passing over only a very short distance of travel; and yet, when properly barreled, they can be sent thousands of miles, even over the roughest ocean voyage, in perfect security. This, says Meehan's Monthly, is owing to a fact discovered years ago, without any one knowing particularly the reason, that an apple rots from a bruise only when the skin was broken. An apple can be pressed so as to have indentations over its whole surface without any danger of rotting, providing the skin is not broken. In barreling apples, therefore, gentle pressure is exercised, so that the fruit is fairly pressed into each other and it is impossible for any one fruit to change its place in the barrel on its journey. In these modern times we understand the reason. The atmosphere is full of microscopic germs which produce fermentation, and unless they can get an entrance into the fruit rot cannot take place. A mere indentation without a rupture of the outer skin does not permit of the action of these microbes.

Wisconsin Bank in Liquidation.

Milwaukee, Aug. 20.—The stockholders of the Commercial Bank voted last night to go into liquidation. The bank failed in the panic of 1893, and was reorganized. The deposits amount to $200,000, and the officers of the bank say they have sufficient funds on hand to meet all immediate claims. The small stockholders denounce the whole scheme of reorganization and liquidation as a measure cleverly devised to enable the old Commercial Bank to get out of paying them their deposit.

Protect the Game and Fish.

Shoot or fish only in the proper season and escape the game warden by observing the laws. Many states have new game and fish laws this year, and if you don't know them, send five 2c stamps for a copy of the Game Law issue of The American Field, 245 State St., Chicago.

THE Spanish Government is having its own soldiers fired upon to drive them to take passage for Cuba to suppress the revolution there. Fine fighters they will be when they reach the "Ever Faithful Isle" It would not be surprising if thousands of them were to desert and join the patriot army.

IN the interest of Economy, while the Treasury is being run by the Rothschild-Belmont-Morgan syndicate, couldn't the Administration dispense with Secretary Carlisle's service?

The Baffled Advertiser.

An exchange paper tells a story of a man in London who determined to spend all he made during the first year in advertising. He soon found that it was impossible for the simple reason that the more he advertised the more he made, and after a strenuous effort to get rid of his money in advertising he had to give it up.

Some Every-Day Heroes.

Yesterday's papers were a lesson in optimism. There were sad items in them, but some of the sadness itself had its elements of inspiration. The incident that men stop to notice is the abnormal. One may pay his debts and maintain a virtuous and happy home and his obscurity may remain unbroken. Let him be a defaulter, or murder his children, or desert his wife, and everybody turns to see what he has done. Let a train finish its journey on time and the passengers will leave it, go about their business and never give that journey a second thought. If the train goes through a bridge or down an embankment they do not forget it. A steamship crosses the Atlantic in six days; its coming is recorded, and the travelers on it are welcomed by their friends. When it is twelve days on the journey, all the world wails on its arrival. The fall of a great office building in course of erection calls for columns on columns in the newspapers. If it had gone up safely, its completion would perhaps have been recorded in ten lines. All this is natural and necessary. There is no need to tell at great length all the things that happen as a matter of course. People want to know the things out of the common. The fact that the accident has particular notice is proof that the accident is the exception and not the rule. The persistence with which evil forces itself upon us is evil's own confession of the predominance of good. Sometimes the sad thing testifies to joy by the very depth of its sadness, which can but be abnormal, sometimes by the heroism which it makes possible of revelation.

In Norristown, Penn., an eminent artist stepped from a train on the way to his summer home. He saw a ten-year-old child run upon the track in front of the locomotive. She was not his child. Probably he never before had seen her. Without a moment's hesitation he rushed to save her and sacrificed his own life in a vain attempt at rescue. A young woman was bathing with two boys off Fort Hamilton, when one of the boys got beyond his depth, and when she tried to hold him, grasped her and pulled her twice under water. Still she struggled, and finally brought him ashore and fell unconscious beside him. A young man out bathing in the Passaic River was tipped over, and in trying to save a companion who could not swim was dragged to the bottom and drowned. A young man attending on his sick wife took poison by mistake, and then, though in great agony, remained by her bedside until he could leave without alarming her and endangering her life. Then it was too late for antidotes to have their effect. Thomas Hovenden wore no star of knighthood and went on no crusades. Olive Moore is doubtless just like other girls of the period. Lockwood Wilsey was an ordinary young man of whose life nothing remarkable is told. Warren Vibbard was a humbie workingman, who was probably as near allied to Sancho Panza as to Don Quixote. They were all people who lived the round of their lives quietly without pretence of being brave. Yet they all were of the stuff that heroes are made of.

Those four deeds right under our own eyes, happened in two days, are a monument to the nobility and unselfishness of humanity. This is a courage which is not stimulated by martial airs or sustained by the fellowship of shoulder to shoulder. It is the response to the individual impulse to do duty, to strive for others at the risk of life. The most humble can have part in that chivalry. It is so simple, and withal so useful, that the possession of it is not begrudged to woman. We often think of humanity as mostly wicked, yet we are all so unacknowledgingly conscious that the spirit of self sacrifice dwells in the majority of men that we do not let ourselves stop to consider plain unselfishness heroic. That might raise up too many heroes for comfort, and we should feel under obligations to treat one another too well. But it is worth while being alive to think now and then how much good there is in just the common run of humanity.

To Further Bower's Interests.

Yesterday (Friday) there was a meeting of the Democratic Lawyers of the Bar, at the office of J. C. Wetzel, Esq., the purpose of which was to further the interest of C. M. Bower, Esq., as a candidate for Superior Court Judge. Ellis L. Orvis, Esq, was elected chairman and H. Y. Stitzer, Secy. On motion D. F. Fortney, Ira C. Mitchell, J. C. Meyer, W. C. Heinle, were appointed a committee, (with Ellis L. Orvis who was added) of four to prepare a circular letter and to make any suggestions, or recommendation, to said members of the Bar as they may deem proper in furtherance of the interest of the said candidacy of C. M. Bower, Esq. Adjourned to meet at the call of the Chairman.

"Me and the Supreme Court" Bowler still thinks he is thinking, when in reality it is Cleveland and Carlisle who are pulling the strings.

VINCENT WAS LYNCHED.

The Man Who Killed Mike Kohlopp is Now Dead.

Ellensburg, Wash., August 14.—At an early hour this morning Charles Vincent, who shot Mike Kohlopp in a drunken brawl Sunday, was lynched. A large mob gathered at midnight and attacked the jail about 1 o'clock. The sheriff made resistance bnt had a small force of men and was overpowered.

Vincent was hanged to a railroad bridge and his body shot full of holes. His hearing was to have taken place to-day. Last night John Burglin, who was stabbed by Vincent's father in the same row, died from his wounds. The elder Vincent may also be lynched. Young Vincent had served a term in the penitentiary for burglary.

Within an hour after the younger Vincent was hanged his father was taken from the jail and hanged beside him. Sheriff Stinson made a strong effort to save the men but the mob was too strong or him. The jail is a weak affair, and there was no trouble in gaining access to it, but the men were confined in a steel cage which gave the mob a good deal of trouble in opening it. The Vincents made no fight, being apparently overcome with fear. Some of the most prominent citizens in town participated in the lynching.

A few were masked, but the mjaority made no attempt to disguise themselves. The civil authorities have not yet taken any action with regard to the lynching.

Committed Suicide.

Lewistown, Pa., August 14.—Miss Theresa Moyer, daughter of John Moyer, of Harrisburg, committed suicide this morning while visiting, with her mother, at the residence of S. D: Howard at Lewistown Junction.

They had been visiting at Ryde for the daughter's health, and stopped off here for the night. The young lady was suffering with melancholia and was probably temporarily insane. She rose about 4 o'clock and taking a rifle standing in the room shot herself through the left temple. The gun was a 32-calibre target rifle loaded with shot cartridge.

The coroner was summoned and empaneled a jury. After hearing the evidence the jury returned a verdict that the said Theresa Moyer came to her death by a gunshot wound, self inflicted, while in a state of melancholia, in a fit of aberration of mind. Considerable excitement was raised over the affair.

Fortune Awaits a Fugitive.

Shamokin, Pa., Aug. 12.—A detective in the employ of the Russian government arrived in town in search of John Keronowski, a fugitive member of a royal family, who is hiding in this country because he believes that he is the murderer of his brother Frank. The detective, John Ruffinski, says that the murdered brother lived three months after his head had been pounded in by John, and confessed that the latter had merely acted in self defense. Since the supposed murderer came to this country his aged father died from grief and left him his estate valued at $30,000. The detective failed to locate his man, but claimed that he secured evidence showing that he is now working in the mines up in the Luzerne anthracite region.

A Robbery Discovered.

Pittsburg, August 15.—The discovery has been made that between the time covered between last Saturday afternoon and Tuesday morning, the law office of William McKennan and John D. McKennan, No. 10 Diamond street, had been robbed of a cash box containing valuable papers. So far as at present known, the loss is confined to a Northern Pacific stock certificate valued at $5,000, which was unregistered and negotiable. The theft was discovered by a negro porter engaged in cleaning out the vault in the building. William McKennan is absent from the city. His brother, Dr. T. M. McKennan, was notified and took charge of the office. It is believed that the door of the office safe was accidently left unlocked. Detectives are working on the case.

Shot While Listening to a Sermon.

Laurel, Del., Aug. 14.—Eugene Farlow, a young man, was shot while listening to a sermon during a campmeeting last night in Melson's woods. A number of young men, supposed to be under the influence of liquor, came upon the camp suddenly and two pistol shots were fired. Farlow received two serious wounds near the heart and is thought to be fatally injured. There was great excitement in the camp and the assailants made their escape.

Death at Woodward.

On last Sunday night, August 11th, Mrs. Daniel Stover, of near Woodward, departed this life at the age of 47 years and 8 months. Deceased has been ailing for the last few years, but her death at this time was rather unexpected. A sorrowing husband and three children survive her. She had been a consistent member of the Evangelical church for about twenty-five years. The funeral took place Tuesday forenoon, interment at Woodward.

Threshing in the West.

The Gramley brothers, sons of B. F. Gramley, of Kaneville, Ill, recently threshed 400 bushels of rye, 25 bushels of grass seed, and 2,050 bushels of oats in one day on the farm of S. D. Hunt, the oats yielding 50 bushels per acre. A good day's work, surely. The above is taken from the Kaneville items of their Western local paper, and will prove of interest to those acquainted with the parties mentioned.

ADDRESS.

Hon. William M. Stewart, (U. S. Senator From Nevada,) President Silver Knights of America.

TO THE AMERICAN PEOPLE.

Science, in all its branches, is founded on indisputable axioms. Monetary science which is the controlling element in political economy, rests on the following axiomatic propositions:

1. The exchange of the products of labor are essential not only to associations but to human existence. The man who could exist alone for any considerable length of time without the aid of what others could do would be a phenomenal savage. Men must exchange their products, or, in familiar language, swap or die.

2. Money is the instrument of swap, and in civilized society the measure of deferred payments.

3. Deferred payments are exchanges, or swaps, of things in existence at the time of the contract, with things which may be in existence at the time of payment. An honest instrument of swap would satisfy the debt at the time of payment by things costing the same sacrifice or labor that the acquisition of such articles would have required at the time the contract was made. In other words, the instrument of swap should not change until the contract is consummated, but should be the same at all times. If all transactions were paid in cash, the difficulty of maintaing an honest instrument of swap or exchange would be less complicated. But production of property involves time, and if money, or the instrument of swap, is changed after investments are made, great inconvenience is produced, and if the instrument of swap has increased in purchasing power, the profit of the enterprise is reduced.

4. The decay of civilization follows the continuous increase of the purchasing power of money, or the instrument of swap, with as much certainty as night follows day. History demonstrates this truth. Since gold and silver have been used as money the nations of antiquity have risen and decayed, in each instance civilization developed and progressed while the mines of the precious metals were productive, and lapsed into decay and barbarism when the mines were exhausted.

Many other things effect the growth and decay of civilization, but nothing has ever reduced the people of any country, who had been once civilized, to misery and slavery but a constantly shrinking volume of standard money. There can be no doubt that if some other material besides the precious metals had been discovered in the beginning, indestructible in quality, easily divisible and limited in quantity, gold and silver might have been dispensed with without any detriment to the human race; and, if the quantity of that material could have been increased to keep pace with population and business the civilization of the ancients would have been preserved. But no other material has yet been discovered from which to coin standard money which would answer the purpose as well as the precious metals. Among the nations which have attained civilization while the mines were productive and which lost it when the mines gave out, the following may be named: Egypt, Babylon, Israel, Greece and Rome. Rome, according to Jacob and Gibbon, had $1,800,000,000 of gold and silver in circulation at the time of the zenith of her power. The mines then failed, and for fourteen hundred years no mining of any consequence was done. This period was called the Dark Ages because civilization decayed under the blighting influence of the constant increase of the purchasing power of money. Gold and silver from Mexico and South America started the new civilization in Europe and America. That civilization is about to be destroyed, not by the failure of the mines, but by legislation, which denies the use of silver as money, and the increased use of gold in the arts, whereby all material supplies of new money are cut off. The baleful effect of this sudden stoppage of the money supply are sorely felt in every gold standard country in the world. Suppose that twenty years ago three young men had each possessed $10,000 in money; that two of them had each bought a farm worked on it and improved it to the present time and that the third had put his money in a safe. To-day the latter could buy both farms. If he had loaned his money at five per cent. per annum, simple interest, he could have bought four such farms. If he had compounded the interest, it is difficult to compute the number of farms he might have bought.

5. The volume of money, or the instrument of swap, is measured by all the property for sale. In other words, the money in circulation and the property for sale are reciprocally the supply and demand of each other. If the volume of money is increased, other things being equal, money will be cheaper, the price of property will rise; and if the volume of money is decreased, money will be dearer and property will fall. The purchasing power of each dollar depends upon the number of dollars in circulation just as much as the price of eggs, chickens, or any other article of food is made cheap by abundance and dear by scarcity.

7. No books are required and no argument is needed to inform then when the volume of money is sufficient to make it an honest instrument of swap or exchange. If general prices are falling money is scarce and dear. If general prices continue to rise money is abundant, and its quantity is increasing faster than population and business. If general prices are staple, the proper quantity of money is in circulation. The confusion which exists arises from a comparison of money with particular kinds of property, and not with the general range of the prices of all property.

It must be borne in mind that the demand for money is equal to the demand for all other things, and consequently the demand for money is always a maximum demand. There is no substitute for money. Everything must be exchanged for money before other things can be bought for money. There is a substitute for everything else which is limited in supply, and therefore a subject for exchange. Corn, barley and oats may each be substituted for wheat; horses may be substituted for mules; in fact, substitutes are being invented every day for things formerly used. The price of each article dealt in will depend upon the supply and the demand of the article. Consequently the rise and fall in price of any article does not determine the purchasing power of money, but the general price of all things bought and sold is the criterion which determines whether there is too much or too little money in circulation.

7. The tables of Soetbeer and the London Economist, exhibited at the Brussel's Conference in 1892, showed that general prices had fallen since silver was demonetized fully forty per cent. and those tables were admitted by the conference to be correct. Since that time the fall has been much more rapid, and it is safe to say that at the present time the fall in general prices since 1873 has been over fifty per cent. In other words, a dollar in money will purchase to-day twice as much property as it would twenty-two years ago.

The increase or growth of idle money one hundred per cent. in twenty-two years is a sufficient cause for the hard times which afflict the people; but when we reflect that, without the use of silver and with the consumption of gold in the arts and the increase of population the volume of standard money must continue to decrease, and the purchasing power of each dollar continue to increase, the hope that civilization can be maintained on the gold standard is idle.

8. It was essential for gold combination to control the commercial press. This they have done and will continue to do. By this means they mislead the people. It was also necessary for them to combine the banks of the United States and Europe to give them control of the country, including transportation and exchange. This instrumentality commands the business men and makes them servants of the banks. They are not satisfied with these advantages, which enables them to control conventions and use politicans, but they are organizing in every commercial centre in secret to make their power felt in every household. The only remedy is a counter organization of the people themselves, in societies or clubs, where they can get together, combine, compare views, obtain literature which the press will not furnish, to the end that the combined power of the masses may be used to break the corner on money, which the gold power has secured, and free this country from the humiliating spectacle of buying temporary peace or protection from the Rothschilds combination, as was done in February last. This country is rich enough and brave enough to declare its independence not only of the Rothschids combination, but of all the powers and potentates on earth.

The order of Silver Knights of America is an orgaization for the purpose of uniting the people in defence of their homes and firesides against the tyranny of the absorbing power of the gold combination. Every citizen of the United States knows that prices are falling and that times are hard, and he ought to know that cutting off the supply of new money by the continuance of the gold standard will make them worse. He also knows that his individual efforts will avail nothing; that he must unite with his neighbors in the common cause or all hope is lost. This must be done by the people without the aid of money. The money of the world is pooled; the combination which controls it commands the government of every gold standard country in the world, and every nation of Europe, as well as the United States, is compelled to ask protection of the colossal gold trust which absorbs the fruits of industry and brings dismay and want to the fireside of every laborer and wealth producer in the land. The history of the struggle of the American people for liberty and equal rights shows that they are not made of the stuff that submits to tyranny maintained by the divine right of kings or the combination of usurers and money changers. When they get together in their local capacity in their neighborhood or school districts, they will soon feel the power they have and exert it as of old. The spirit of union, which made three millions free in 1776, will liberate seventy millions in 1896, and restore the government of the United States to the people for whom it was ordained by the fathers of the Republic. The people must not wait for politicians they look to the money powers, which have been successful against the people for the last twenty years; they cannot realize that there can be any success in serving the people. The reason is that party trammels have divided the masses and made them powerless. The gold trust now controls the politicians, and to follow them is to do the bidding of the enemy. An American citizen who loves his country is as much out of place in following the gold leaders of either of the old party organizations as a Union soldier would have been during the war in the ranks of the Confederate army, or a Confederate soldier in the ranks of the Union army. The forces of the old parties have been commanded for the last twenty years by officers of the gold trust with the same regularity as the forces of a great army are commanded by the government they serve. The only hope is that the people will unite and select leaders who will serve them and not an alien gold trust.

The hard times, which afflict all gold standard countries, were produced by cuting off the supply of new money, by demonetizing silver in 1873. The only remedy within reach of the people is the restoration of Statutes of the United States as they existed from the foundation of the government up to that time. No experiment is suggested. The laws of Hamilton, Jefferson and Jackson gave prosperity. The laws of Cleveland have destroyed that prosperity. It was the most radical and revolutionary financial scheme of all the ages. Twenty-two years of profound peace and abundant harvest cannot be the cause of universal distress. The only cause which can be assigned for growing misery and want in this land of boundless resources is the stoppage of the money supply by the secret and clandestine manipulation of legislation by bondholders and money changers. The people must undo their wicked work by re-enacting the law as it existed prior to 1873, providing for the unrestricted coinage of both gold and silver upon terms of exact equality at the old ratio of 16 to 1. Let unrestricted coinage of both metals at the ratio of 16 to 1 upon terms of exact equality be the motto of every man who is in favor of liberty and prosperity.

WM. M. STEWART,
President Silver Knights of America.

Claiming a Fortune.

The Spang heirs are once again seeking to perfect a claim to a fortune of $30,000,000, located somewhere in Germany, and the usual call has been issued to the family to chip in for expenses. This thing happens every summer. It has been customary for some ardent claimant to come forward as early in the year as April or May, in order to enjoy the first of the season tripe across the Atlantic, but the scheme for a European jaunt in company with the early set appears to have been revised. An explanation for this change doubtless exists in the fact that the leader in last year's enterprise is now in Berks Jail for running too large an account at the expense of the heirs, and for fraudulent transactions, and the leader this year has been more careful touching the same expense account. No assessment has been called for, the voluntary contribution taking its place. A contribution is much safer than an assessment and rarely leads to troublesome inquiries. Some day the Spang heirs will realize that there is no fortune awaiting them in Germany, and that there never was one, and when that day comes they will save lots of money.—Phila. Times.

Plenty of Peaches.

The Delaware peach crop this year is estimated by the officials who will handle a great part of it at 3,500,000 baskets. This is three-quarters of a first-class crop; but the promise is that this year's peaches will be so unusually large and fine that the crop estimate will proye too small. Hardly anything that can now happen will damage the crop, so that it is safe to count upon a fair abundance of peaches from Delaware the last of July until the middle of September. Peaches so cheap that they can go into general use is a sanitary matter of some importance.

Found $9,000.

Some time ago a farmer named Halleman, who lived nearly all his life in a hut in Northumberland, county died. A few hours before his death he told his son that there was a lot of money secreted around the old cabin. On Sunday last a search was made, and in nearly every corner gold and silver was found. The money all told aggregated $9,000. The fortunate son has never been more than thirty miles away from home and never knew until Sunday what it was to have any large sums o money.

Hoarding Gold.

"The Bank of England is still increasing it holdings of gold. It now has $19,000,000 more than it had 12 months ago. The Bank of France has added $57,000,000 to its hoard of gold in the same time." And the United States is constantly buying and losing the blarsted stuff.

"For years I had suffered from falling of the womb, inflammation of the stomach, and weakness of the female organs. "I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and found a perfect cure in it for these troubles." MRS. LIZZIE DECLINE, 224 Grand Street, Jersey City, New Jersey.

NEW DISCOVERY.

Among the many discoveries of the present age, none rank higher than the new metal silvereen, which owing to its great durability and cheapness is bound to take the place of silver in the manufacture of fine tableware.

Silvereen is a beautiful white metal, will not tarnish or rust, and all goods made from it are warranted.

We want every one to have a chance to compare silvereen with silver, so for the next sixty days we are going to give away one half dozen Crown Silver Tea Spoons Free, to every person who will send for one of our Terry's Silvereen sets, containing six Tea Spoons, one Sugar Shell, one Butter Knife. If at any time the Silvereen goods do not prove satisfactory, return them and your money will be refunded. Remember we give you the Silver Spoons.

Price of Silvereen set, $2.00. f7-2y.

DEAR READERS:

We have heard from many of you during the brief period that our advertisement appeared in this space. Any others desiring full reports and statements can secure same by writing to us.

The further opening up of the South Central group of gold mines, and the erection of a Stamp Mill to reduce the company's ore to bullion, is a square, legitimate ure of capital.

1. Mr. Barry, formerly of Cripple Creek, the Bonanza gold camp of Colorado, sold his interests there, and bought the Morning Star gold mine, a producer in the vicinity of the South Central group.

2. Captain Plummer, formerly of the Granite Mountain mine, is now working the Delamar Mine, a large producer in the vicinity of the South Central group.

As the Granite Mountain (Gold and Silver Mining Co.) stock rose from about twelve cents a share to over $50 a share, and paid from 25 cents to 50 cents per share per month in dividends, under the superintendency of Captain Plummer, we consider him a pretty safe guide to follow in mining, and we invite you to participate in the nyestment.

IT IS THE PLAN OF SCRIBNER'S to give its readers next year a history of the past 25 years in the United States. (1894-95.) These years have been unparralleled in the history of the world for national development and material progress. The narrative will be written in a graphic and picturesque style by President Andrews, of Brown University, and capable artists will illustrate it.

ROBERT GRANT whose "Reflections of a Married Man" will long be remembered, has written a series of articles on "The Art of Living," in which he sets himself to solve, as far as such problems can be solved, questions which beset every well-to-do family: The Income—The dwelling—Household Expenses—Education of Children—Married and Single Life—The Summer Problem, etc., etc. Beautifully illustrated.

GEORGE MEREDITH, whom more than one good authority has pronounced the greatest of living novelists, has written a strong serial, "The Amazing Marriage" to begin in January.

D. HOWELLS, will contribute a novel entitled "The Story of a Play."

IN THE LAND OF DON QUIXOTE will be a series of three sketches illustrated by Daniel Vierge's wonderful drawings.

SINGLE ARTICLES in great variety have been arranged for and the illustrations will be eleborate.

STARTLED EVERYBODY.

Fortunately, However, There Was No Loss of Life from the Explosion.

Rome, August 16.—The people of Ancona, a city in central Italy, about 200 miles northeast of Rome, were thrown into a panic to-day by the explosion of a bomb on the stairway leading to the French consulate. Every one in the vicinity of the building at the time the explosion occurred was startled by the terrible report, and when the fact that an attempt had been made to destroy the consulate was made known, the excitement became intense. The force of the explosion did great damage to the building, but fortunately no one was killed or injured. The consul and his family were absent, having gone to the baths at Falconara.

A short time before the explosion occurred a number of men were found by the police engaged in pasting an anarchist manifesto near the consulate building and were taken into custody.

To-day's explosion is supposed to have been planned and carried out as a protest on the part of enemies of the government against the execution of Cazrio Santo, the Italian anarchist, who on June 24, 1894, fatally stabbed President Carnot at Lyons as the president was leaving the banquet of the exposition of Lyons on his way to the theatre. To-day is thought to have been chosen for the commission of the outrage in view of the fact that it is the anniversary of the legal killing of the French president's murderer. The authorities believe the men arrested o repost-ing the anarchist manifesto are the authors of the explosion, and every effort will be made to connect them with the affair.

THE MODERN DOLLAR.

Who Owns it and What it Buys.

It is generally conceded that the aggregate of all classes of America debt held abroad is five billion of dollars, and the interest on this amount, which must be paid in gold, reaches 225 millions annually. In 1892 the world produced $197,605,000 in silver, and $130,817,000 in gold. Deducting 40 per cent used in the arts and sciences, we have left for money purpose only $196,454,000. With the out put of both gold and silver for the whole earth aggregating only 197 millions, how can we pay annually to Europe 225 millions in gold? Surely no one would advise a new bond issue every time the interest fell due; even a Zulu would stand aghast at such a proposition. But how are we to pay this interest? It is a serious question, and touches the very life of the American people. The foreigners who hold the debts and their American agents—non producers nearly every one of them—see clearly that if this interest could be paid in the products of labor—cotton, wheat and corn— that the gold would remain in this country to be manipulated as they see fit. So far, they have enforced this policy, and made it possible for England to say to us with brutal frankness: "I want cotton, wheat and corn to clothe and feed my millions. You American raises a very superior quality of these articles. Put them to me cheaper than they can be produced in my own India and Egypt—where labor is only ten cents per day—else I shall buy from them, and destroy our national credit by demanding your interest in gold." Thus do American wheat, corn and cotton go abroad in settlement of at least eighty-five or ninety per cent of our foreign indebtedness. No wonder these conditions suit the corporate greed of this country and that it is fighting so hard for a perpetuation of its interests. Continue the promises to pay in impossible gold. What care they? The farmer's products, competing with India and Egypt, pay the foreign interest, and a pittance, of gold remaining here at a basis for the expansion and contraction of national bank paper, gives them another lever for reaching the property of the mechanic, the carpenter, the bricklayer, the stone-cutter and every class of labor. Notwithstanding these facts, so well known to the world, the greedy holders of these tremendous credits, with their horde of agents, tools, and puppets, have the temerity to stand up and declare that they advocate the use of an "honest" "truthful" dollar—a dollar which, as far as the masses are concerned, might as well have no existence. Thus then, is made possible a gold standard in this country, but at what a frightful cost to the producer. That it will drag him down to the level of the ten cent per day labor of the Orient there can be no doubt; but in the fall of the farmer, be it remembered, all things else must share his fate. Every class of property—even in the cities—is now beginning to feel the pinch. Nor can we correct the evil altogether by resorting to a high tariff. For the sake of argument let us grant that such a policy would drive labor up in certain manufacturing centers—in the East for example—to three dollars a day. This, however, would simply defer the inevitable for a brief space, since the producers of the South and West, competing with India and Egypt, and selling their products on a basis of ten-cents-a day labor, could not long continue to purchase the output of the more expensive producers of the East who were drawing three dollars per day. Such a policy would eventually work as much ruin as a perpetual bond issue. Thousands are now putting to themselves such questions, and being unable to give satisfactory answers, are turning to silver as the only remedy. It can work no harm, they argue, since if we had the whole world's output of both gold and silver, it would not suffice to pay our interest abroad. If the advocates of "sound money" will elucidate just this one point, it may be predicted with safety that there will be no more "silver craze" to worry the life out of us, and to drive to distraction the patient and watchful souls of our great? politicians.

W. K. CARR.

The Winner of the America's Cup.

Who will it be? Whether Britannia or Columbia will rule the waves in the coming contest time only will tell; but never before has a yacht race been anticipated with so much enthusiasm, and never before have the contestants been so closely matched. Apropos to the subject, and very interesting and valuable at this time, is a most elaborately illustrated paper, in DEMOREST'S MAGAZINE for September, on "The Races for the America's Cup," which gives a history of the famous cup and the famous races for its possession, and the latest information about our gallant Defender and her crew,—information which every patriotic American wants to, and should have. Another important national event, the dedication of the Chattanooga National Park and Cemetery, is treated of in "Battle-Field and Burial Ground," which is embellished with numerous handsome illustrations, including portraits of generals commanding on the famous battle-ground. Hon. Chauncey M. Depew, Dr. Joshua Pim and Governor Evans, of North Carolina, give their opinions of "International Contests"; there are charming stories by Mrs. W. K. Clifford, Julia Magruder, May D. Hatch, and others; and every one of the departments, for which this typical family magazine is noted, is full to overflowing with good things. 'Tis an ideal magazine, published for only $2 a year, by the Demorest Publishing Co., 110 Fifth avenue, New York.

Cannot Employ Children.

Patriot: There will be a boom in the demand for common labor all over the state between now and September 1 as the result of the enforcement of the factory law regulating the employment of children under sixteen years of age. Beginning with next month there will be a strict enforcement of that law by Factory Inspector Campbell, and thousands of boys will be out of work. The law is companion of the new compulsory school law, and thousands of children under sixteen years who have worked in mills, factories and shops since they were mere babies will have to go to school.

The number of children employed in the mills and factories of Pennsylvania is not known, as their identity is not easily discovered through a pay roll, but the aggregate will run away up in the thousands. The change will work hardship in some cases, as the children are very helpful to their parents, but the enforcement of the law leaves no discretion to employers. The weeding out of boys in the iron and steel mills, especially, will provide for the employment of many laborers.

Music Teachers and Certificates.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Schaeffer has given an important opinion involving the right of certain persons to teach in the public schools of Pennsylvania. He decides that a teacher of music, drawing and other special branches, must hold a certificate from the proper school authorities covering in addition to these branches the legal branches which include orthography, reading, writing, geography, English grammar, arithmetic, history of the United States, physiology and hygiene. This question has arisen during the summer vacation in many school districts of the state. The opinion of Superintendent Schaeffer will probably have the effect of throwing out of employment several teachers of special branches who are not competent to hold such a certificate.

The Education of Deaf Children.

The Pennsylvania institution for the deaf and dumb at Mount Alry, Philadelphia begins its seventy-sixth year of school work on September 15. It is a free school supported by the state, for the education of its deaf children. Applicants for admission must be six years of age, and not over twenty. Oral methods by which the deaf are taught to speak and to read from the lips are pursued. Separate intellectual and industrial departments with experienced instructors are maintained. Fall classes are now forming, and parents and friends of deaf children should lose no time in making application for their admission. Address Dr. A. L. E. Crouter, superintendent, institution for the deaf, Mount Alry, Philadelphia, for full information.

THE State Grange, Patrons of Husbandry, have decided to discuss the silver question at their coming Williams' Grove meeting, and that means a line of argument quite different from the Western view of free coinage. No one appreciates the full value of a silver dollar better than the Pennsylvania farmer. He knows that wheat at eighty cents a bushel on an honest standard is infinitely better than having the same eighty cents only equivalent to forty, the value of money under the commercial or 16 to 1 silver system. It is anything but fertile territory for Populist doctrine in a State where everything has been acquired under a gold basis.

The second and last sea shore excursion of the season via the Central R. R. of Pa. will take place on Thursday, August 22nd. Tickets will be good for return within ten days, and permit of a stop off in Philadelphia. Fare, $5.75 for the round trip.

Mrs. Humphrey Ward's new novel, upon which she has been at work for past two years, will be called "Sir George Tressady." It will appear as a serial in The Century, beginning with November.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

DR. G. C. OSGOOD,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

DR. J. F. KINCHELOE,
Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

Silver and Prosperity.

I can preceive nothing ahead that promises a return to substantial prosperity and a revival of all our industrial enterprises under the single standard. So long as the supply of real money is so limited, just so long will clear headed men hesitate to venture in new business enterprise. But the restoration of silver would afford almost immediate relief to those most needing it. It would revive and resuscitate our drooping and failing industries, give a tangible value to real property everywhere, produce a reaction from the blighting effects of contraction, create prosperous times, such as expansion of the currency always does, with this difference, that this would lead to the healthy and permanent prosperity afforded only by an ample supply of fundamental money, such as gold and silver jointly would provide.

It seems to me that as the greatest producer of silver in the world the country should lead off in this matter. While there can be no objections to an international monetary conference, can we afford to wait the tardy action of the world? While there is a very strong sentiment in Europe in favor of restoring silver, it is not likely that any definite results can be obtained by an international conference until this county remonetizes the white metal.—N. B. Thistlewood in New York Herald.

A Pigeon Postal Route.

Probably the only regular pigeon post service is that which bears messages every day in the summer season between Los Angeles and the little town of Avalon, on Catalina island.

The steamer runs once a day between island and mainland and once it has cut loose from the wharf the island, with a summer population of perhaps several thousands, is as completely cut off from the world as though it were in mid-ocean, and yet the shore is a scant twenty miles away. The demand for some additional service grew. Often there were men of affairs among the visitors, and they were not infrequently sore distressed to find no means of communication.

It remained for two young men of Los Angeles to relieve the island visitors and residents from their isolation. This was accomplished by the establishment of a carrier pigeon post between Avalon and Los Angeles. The service was inaugurated last summer and conducted several weeks with success. It was feared at first that the pigeons, which are distinctly "land birds," might hesitate to fly across so large a body of water; but as far as known there need have been no cause for anxiety on this point. The message bearers usually started without delay, arriving at their destination with a certainty and promptness almost incredible. The air line distance from Avalon to Los Angeles is about fifty miles. This was accomplished by some of the Catalina flyers in fifty minutes. From three to four hours is required to make the trip by railroad and steamer.

Last year a considerable revenue was earned in the forwarding of dispatches from Catalina by the winged messengers. Small bills posted conspicuously about the town of Avalon convey the information that "private messages and business orders may be forwarded at any hour of the day, and, in connection with the telephone, telegraph and cable lines to any part of the world." The young pigeon fanciers also add to their income by supplying the daily press of Los Angeles with the latest news from Catalina.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Garrett Cochran's Experiences

Garrett, son of State Senator J. Henry Cochran, the young Princeton student who was shot by the negro John Collins at the same time Student Ohl was fatally wounded, has just returned to Williamsport from a freight train tour of the country. He was accompanied by Fred Bartles, a friend. The young men, who are both wealthy, left home on the morning of August 8th, with but $8 in cash. They worked their way by boat and rail to Cleveland, Ohio, and return. At Ashtabula a tramp endeavored to effect an entrance into the box car where the boys were riding. Cochran struck him on the head with a coupling pin, when the tramp drew a revolver and fired. The bullet imbedded itself in the roof of the car. On the outward trip the boys got in a freight car with a mad dog. They killed the dog and rode 100 miles in the car. Both young men declare they had a delightful trip.

The contrast between disease and health is as sharply marked as that between darkness and light. The sufferings of disease make enjoyment of life impossible and perfect health makes even a commonplace existence a bright and happy one.

The truest thing about disease is that most of it is needless. Nine-tenths of it can be subdued by very simple remedies. Even that most dreadful malady, consumption, can be cured in 98 cases out of a hundred, if it be treated in its early stages with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Consumption is a disease caused by impurity of the blood, and the first thing to be done in its treatment is to make the blood pure, rich and wholesome. That is half the battle. The other half is the impregnation of the blood with cleansing, healing, invigorating medicines. The "Golden Medical Discovery" does both. It first puts the whole digestive system into perfect order, rids it of all impurities and from the vantage ground so gained, reaches out to every fiber of the body and restores all to perfect vigor. It cures many diseases, simply because many diseases spring from a set of common causes. The same disorder may lead to different symptoms in different people. What might be only a little indigestion in one person, may combine with a slight cold in another and result in consumption. A treatment that tones up the whole system is always the safest. A medicine that is good for the general health is pretty sure to cure ordinary diseases. Six cents in stamps with this notice, sent to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., will bring a large 160 page book. It contains photographs and letters from hundreds who have been cured by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

The St. Louis all Right.

Southampton, August 20.—The American line steamer St. Louis had an official trial to-day and maintained a speed of twenty-two and three tenths knots per hour for over four hours, carrying the stars and stripes faster than any flag had ever been carried through the English channel. The time consumed was two hours twelve minutes five seconds, showing a speed of 23.6 knots. The return trip was made in two hours twenty-eight minutes thirty-seven seconds, a speed of 21 knots. The sea was smooth.

Come.

Written for the Erie Herald.

The cards are out for a wedding,
A wedding on Lake Erie's shore;
Hospitality bids you all welcome,
As she stands at her wide open door.

The bride is fair Christian Endeavor,
The groom stalwart Brotherly Love,
And the altar is decked for the festal
With blessings from heaven above.

Come all! of whatever known calling—
Come all! of whatever known creed;
You will find here a feast overflowing,
You will find here a welcome, indeed.

Bring with you for offerings golden
A prayer and an outstretched hand;
Bring with you a smile and a joy song!
Come up and "possess ye the land."

The lake breeze will join with the choir,
Devotion His temple shall throng:
And his hand shall pour out richest blessings
On singer as well as on song.

MRS. T. P. RYNDER.

Dinner is Served.

A week or ten days is considered sufficient notice for dinner invitations.

Women guests remove their wraps in the hall, handing them to the servant.

A lady and gentleman do not enter the drawing room side by side; she precedes him.

It is not now the custom as formerly for brides to take precedence at a dinner party, except when their rank or position would entitle them to do so anyway.

If from any cause the hostess is absent, and an entertainment, at which ladies are present, is given by the host, the wife's sister takes the hostess' place in preference to the sister of the husband.

The man who takes the hostess in to dinner gives the signal for the men to return to the drawing room. If the host should do it his guests might think he was hurrying them away to spare his wine.

The time to leave after a dinner party is between 10.30 and 11 o'clock.—Chicago News.

Marrying on $50 a Month.

"Bill Nye" says: Yesterday a young man asked if it would be safe for him to marry on $500 and a salary of $50 per month. I told him I could tell better when I saw the girl. There are girls who have grown up in ease and who have kicked great black and blue welts in the lap of luxury; yet who are more ready and willing to accept a little rough weather than the poor girl who has stood for 18 years looking through the soiled window of life waiting for the rain to rinse it off and let the sunlight through that she might see her approaching lord.—Aug. Ladies' Home Journal.

Encourage the Editor.

The editor can always write more cheerfully of the business interests of a town when his columns are liberally filled with the advertisements of the business houses. No editor can advocate the doctrine of buying from home merchants unless the home merchants show they are interested in catering to the home trade by advertising in the columns of the local newspaper.

It is depressing to the editor to find business men patronizing every advertising fake that come along, and at the same time the name of those business men are rarely, if ever, seen in the advertising columns of the local newspaper.

THE leading article in the September HARPER'S will give the impressions received by Mr. Richard Harding Davis during a recent overland journey in Honduras, undertaken for HARPER'S MAGAZINE and HARPER'S WEEKLY. The title is "Three Gringos in Central America," and the paper will be attractively illustrated. Besides Honduras, Mr. Davis' travels included Nicaragua and Venezuela, and other things he saw in this interesting quarter will be told in subsequent numbers.

May Be Divided.

Since the death of Bishop Howe a report has obtained credence that there will be a movement made at an early day looking to a division of the Central Pennsylvania Episcopal diocese and the creation of a new bishopric out of the western part. It is claimed in behalf of the division that the present territory is entirely too large for one bishop to cover.

A CAPITAL feature of HARPER'S WEEKLY in the immediate future will be a series of humorous papers entitled "A House-Boat on the Styx," written by John Kendrick Bangs and illustrated by Peter Newell. Adventures and conversations in the lower world are themes attacked by this brace of humorous talents, and the distinction of the defunct persons whose doings and sayings are recorded leaves nothing to be desired.

THE "silver craze," instead of dying out, can hardly be said to have begun. By November 1, 1896, the money of the country will be about $108,000,000 less than it would have been if the Sherman act had not been repealed. Next year the people of the United States will feel more of the effects of the demonetization of silver than ever before.

They Ought to be Debarred from Voting.

The man who says he don't understand the money question, the political question of most pressing and immediate importance of any now before the people, ought to quit voting till he does understand it.

The money question, as it now presents itself to the American people, is not so complex a question, but what common, plain, everyday citizens can readily understand it, if they will give it even a moderate amount of thought. The people of the United States are in debt to the amount of over $30,000,000,000, over half of which indebtedness is owned by the shylocks of Europe. These debts were most of them contracted when the country was on a gold, silver, and greenback basis. By the very terms of the contract under which these debts were made, they were payable in lawful money. Through the crooked influence of the money leading class, these obligations were changed so that they were payable first in coin and then in gold alone. In the matter of the United States government bonds, most of them were bought below par, for 40 and 50 cents on the silver dollar, and now the bond holders and bankers want them paid in gold dollars, made trebly valuable by the demonetization of both silver and greenbacks. The man who can't understand the rank and criminal injustice of any such scheme of government finance as that is incompetent to understand his duties as a citizen, and should be debarred from the exercise of the suffrage as non compos mentis.—Knights of Labor Journal.

Another Crop for Our Farmers.

The Lancaster New Era records the fact that a farmer of Lancaster county has recently harvested a crop of winter oats which averaged sixty-eight bushels to the acre. This result is an important one to the farmers of Southern Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware and other States, where, for some reason or other, perhaps the influence of a warm climate, spring oats have ceased to be productive and oats of any kind are now only rarely grown.

In a letter, quoted by the new era, written by a Kent county, Del., farmer, it is declared that winter oats have there yielded from fifty to eighty bushels per acre, and have proved one of the most profitable crops grown, each bushel weighing from 38 to 45 pounds. Winter oats are so little known in this section of the country that it may be well to say that they are sown at the same time as winter wheat, and thus get a start in cool weather which enables them to flourish in spite of the hot, dry weather of June and July, which appears to be so disastrous to spring oats.

It appears a little remarkable that the discovery of the adaptability of winter oats to this climate should be made so late, but the discovery will be made no less welcome on that account. It will add another crop to this part of the country, give an abundant supply of the best food for horses and bring down the fancy prices which of recent years have had to be paid for oats from the Northwest.

AFTER getting Mary Ellen Lease to name her bedrock price for a series of campaign speeches, the Texas Populist committee notified her that they would have to fall back on Jerry Simpson and "Cyclone Jim" Davis. The Texas "Pops" want it distinctly understood that they are neither Vanderbilts nor the presidents of Vanderbilt roads. They can afford the luxury of one speech from Senator Peffer and a serie of them from stars of the calibre of "Sockless Jerry," but an hour's talk from Mary Ellen Lease would bankrupt their treasury.

BEAUTIFUL toilettes for the later summer will be given in the August issues of HARPER'S BAZAR. Everything will have a light, bright, charming outdoor effect befitting the season. "A Suburban Episode," a clever and timely story by Anna Wentworth Sears, will appear in the BAZAR dated August 17th.

Protect Your Health.

Disinfectants. The sickness surrounding us, ought to prompt every occupant of property to clean and purify their premises. The doctors recommend the use of Coperas. In pursuance of that recommendation, Mr. Shortlidge, President of the Board of Health, has purchased a quantity which will be sold in lots of 5 lbs. or more at 2c per pound which is very cheap, at the store of Messrs. McCalmont & Co.

Indigestion

Yields readily to Hood's Sarsaparilla because it tones and strengthens the stomach and aids digestion by supplying pure blood. "I had indigestion so badly that I was all run down and could hardly walk. Had no appetite and could not sleep. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and before I had taken a fourth of a bottle I was very much better. I also used Hood's Pills and found them splendid, very mild, yet effective. I cannot say enough in praise for what they have done for me. Since using two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills occasionally I feel almost like a new person. I have a splendid appetite, sleep well and work with ease." ANNIE C. LANTZ, Belleville, Pennsylvania.

The Logan's Picnic.

The Logan Fire company had a good day at Hunter's Park on Thursday. The crowd was a good sized one and the best of order prevailed all the time, There was just enough amusement to make up a pleasant diversion and break the monotony of the day's recreative outing. In the forenoon the ball game between the colored clubs of Philipsburg and Bellefonte was won by the home team and in the afternoon the visitors carried off the laurels.

But the greatest interest was centered in the bicycle races. There were thirteen entries, all local riders, and the events were as follows:

One mile novice, won by Harry Weaver. Joe Katz second, Temp Cruse third,

Half-mile open, won by George Williams. A. Lester Sheffer second, Harry Yeager third. First prize, a sweater.

One mile open. Won by George Williams. Sheffer second, Yeager third. Prize, bicycle shoes.

Three mile open, won by Sheffer. Williams second, Yeager third. First prize, bicycle suit; second, bicycle saddle.

Stonerode Identified.

Boyd Stonerode, the man who was arrested on Tuesday charged with being the man who, as "Carpenter," passed a forged check on the Pennsvalley bank some two weeks ago, was given a hearing on Friday before Justice Keichline. Cashier W. B. Mingle and the pseudo Constable Crawford were present and positively identified Stonerode as the man. On this evidence he was held for court in the sum of $1,000 bail.

Now if the authorities in Huntingdon and Blair counties, where the banks were similarly worked just a few days prior to the Pennsvalley transaction, would look around a little they might find the "individual they desire."

$350 in Prizes.

The first annual meet of the Clearfield wheelmen will be held at Clearfield on the 21st. Four prizes are offered in half mile novice race; three in one mile championship of Clearfield, Elk, Clinton, Jefferson, Clarion, Lycoming, Centre, Blair, and Huntingdon counties; three in half mile for under 16; three in two mile open handicap; three in one mile boys under 12, and three in five mile lay open.

"Bigness of our Corn Crop."

"The bigness of our corn crop beggars the arithmetic," said Frank P. MacLennan, editor of the Topeka State Journal, in an interview. "Instead of saying the State of Kansas now, you should use the synonym 'cornfield' for 'State.' You will understand in a measure the corn figures of Kansas when I say to you that the crop will be more than a quarter of a billion bushels. It will exceed three hundred millions. It will give five bushels, or 600 pounds to every man, woman and child in the United States, and leave enough to send several shiploads to Russia.

—At the last Lewistown court, Mr. J. M. Goodheart, brother of our County Commissioner Goodheart, received a verdict of $31,000 damages against the Penna. R.R. company. Last week Judge McClure granted the defendant company a new trial and in doing so unmercifully berated the jury for finding such a verdict. Of course, his action in the matter created great indignation.

A Small Fire.

At 12.30 Saturday a fire from the chimney of the house occupied by Mr. Farley, near the Phœnix planing mill, caused a considerable blowing of whistles and quite a confusion, but a prompt response of the fire companies with a quick application of water, averted any great loss, only by water.

Hastings Ingratitude.

There has been a great deal said during the present struggle about the ingratitude of Governor Hastings toward Senator Quay This sort of talk emanates from sources ignorant of the political history of the last decade, or so blinded by zeal in the Quay cause as to be unable to see the facts as they stand out on the record of the times. No man in politics in Pennsylvania is less indebted to Quay than the governor. Pervious to the Delamater disaster (which thousands of republicans have a habit of recalling) Quay played fast and loose with Hastings, and gave him to understand that he (Quay) had no preference, and that Delamater had no claim to the nomination than Hastings. Thus encouraged our Bellefonte man went vigorously into the canvass, and secured the popular indorsement for the high and honorable office which he now fills. (As all of us know who watched the signs of that time and attending that convention.) In the mean time, however, Quay was planing to 'own a governor,' and the forced nomination of Delamater was the result. Subsequent history is too recent to need recounting. Last year the nomination and election of Hastings could not have been prevented by a Hundred Quays, but the followers of the Beaver man would have the thoughtless citizen believe that it was all due to the favor of their political idol. As soon as Harrison was elected the fawning of his enemies commenced that thrift might follow. The Governor overlooked their transgressions and permitted them to enter the land which their deeds should have forever excluded them from. They were given of the fat of the land, but the Quayities were not content. They wanted the earth. In their minds Hastings was not worthy to be mentioned in the same breath as the great man from Beaver,and so they plotted to dethrone the governor who was placed over them by the largest popular vote in the history of the state. For several weeks and months they conspired together to bring odium upon the official head of the party, and neither day nor night did they cease their plotting Finally they became bold in their scheming, and the investigation of the alleged wrongs of Philadelphia was agreed upon as a clever way to attack the administration through its supporters in the metropolis.

Frank Willing Leach's resignation of a six-thousand-dollar position in order that he might be free to help Senator Quay is commendable. His example is not being emulated with that alacrity that one might expect to see by the Quay appointees of the governor at the capitol. On the contrary, the Quay politicians who owe their political jobs to the governor are holdington and secretly doing all they can to discredit the administration. Of course, there is not ingratitude in this! It has been suggested here that Mr. Leach's anxiety to engage in the fight against the governor comes from his failure to land in the position nowfilled by Secretary Reeder.

The Wane of Spanish Rule.

The Spanish losses by disease and battle are alleged to amount to 15,000 men during the past four months, and the Spanish authorities confess to the loss of 10,000 men by disease alone, the loss in battle being suppressed information.

Cotemporaneously with this confession and the return of campos to Havana, the Cubans have proclaimed a provisional government and are besieging Puerto Principe, the former capital of Cuba, and still the head city of the central department: It is hardly possible that Campos would have returned to Havana, when such a siege threatened, if he had been able to hold his own against the insurgents. This is strong corroboration of the report that he narrowly escaped capture and that his return to Havana was more in the nature of flight than of a return from a successful or even drawn campaign.

If the insurgents succeed in their siege of Puerto Principe they will then have a strong claim for recognition in their possession of a large amount of territory, an organized government and a seat for that government. With the recognition of a defeated Cuban Government interference by the United States would be a logical application of the Monroe doctrine.

Secretary Morton's Object Lesson.

Washington, August 16.—Yesterday was pay day for employees of the several executive departments and Secretary Morton took advantage of the opportunity to present what he called an "object lesson" to the free silver enthusiasts who drew salaries for services in the agricultural department. Instead of nine crisp bills these employes—division chiefs, clerks, messengers and labors—were paid entirely in silver. A trifle more than $1,000, weighing sixty pounds, was parcelled out in correct amounts, enclosed in canvas bags and delivered to the proper inidividuals.

Secretary Morton did not otherwise seek to press his sound money views upon the employes, whom he paid in their favorite coin, but it is said he smiled with grave satisfaction when he saw the crestfallen faces of the employes who lugged away bundles of coin weighing several pounds. This is the second time Secretary Morton has presented this "object lesson" to employes of the department and it is possible he will continue the practice with the hope of converting the free silver advocates. Some of them do not take kindly to this form of instruction and say so.

A TYRONE SENSATION.

A. Newton Bouse Puts a Bullet Into His Head and Death Ensues.

Yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock the report of a pistol, shot at the rear end of the lot occupied by William A. Bouse on West Jefferson avenue attracted the attention of those living near by. An examination of the cause found A. Newton Bouse in the chicken yard in an unconscious condition, with blood flowing from a bullet wound immediately in front of the right ear and a contusion in the temple above the left eye. The pistol which was the instrument of death was a 23-calibre ivory handle six barrel, with four barrels unloaded and two loaded, one of which was discharged lay by his side. Dr. G. W. Burket was immediately called and soon followed by Dr. C. M. Ewing, but their services were of no avail. The work intended had been surely accomplished. Without returning to consciousness, death did not take final hold for fully one hour after the act was committed. The remains were taken in charge by Undertakers Burley & Graham and removed to their place of business, on Logan avenue, and Coroner Poet notified who came down last evening.

Up until March, 1894, Mr. Bouse was engaged in the drug business at Saxton, Huntingdon county, which he relinquished and since then has made his home with his brothers in this place, not having any set occupation. He was unmarried and aged about 29 years. He leaves to survive him his aged mother and four brothers—Dr. John A. Bouse, Chambersburg, Pa., William A. Bouse, yardmaster Tyrone division; George M. Bouse, flagman Bald Eagle Valley local freight, and Harry I. Bouse, traveling agent, all of Tyrone. His mother is at the home of her son, Dr. John A. Bouse, Chambersburg. Coroner Michael Poet arrived at 6.37 p. m. and immediately upon his arrival announced the following jury of inquest: William M. Snyder, foreman: J. J. Miller, W. F. Taylor, Esq., C. W. Sausser, Howard D. Cree and D. T. Caldwell, who after viewing the remains and hearing the testimony of Dr. George W. Burket, J. A. Dunkle and J. Luden Henry, rendered the following verdict: That death was caused by a pistol shot wound in the head inflicted by himself.

Locomotive Engineers Celebrate.

Pittsburg, Aug. 16.—The celebration of the thirty-second anniversary of the organization of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers began in Pittsburg this morning, and will continue until Sunday. The present is the first time in the history of the organization that an anniversary has ever been celebrated. The city is thronged with delegates and their families. A recent meeting of the delegates convened at 9 o'clock this morning at Union Veteran Legion hall, Sixth avenue, Pittsburg, while a meeting of the woman's auxiliary to the brotherhood convened at the same hour at Engineers' hall, Allegheny City. This afternoon an open meeting was held in the Bijou theatre. After prayer, addresses of welcome to the engineers were made by Adjutant General Stewart in behalf of the state and by Mayors McKenna and Kennedy in behalf of the cities of Pittsburg and Allegheny. Address were also made by a number of others.

Grand Army Outing.

Saturday, August 14, will be a gala day for all old soldiers, all their families, and all other good citizens who will take advantage of the opportunity to enjoy such a picnic as has never before been held in the vicinity of Tyrone.

This picnic, for which arrangements are being perfected by Post 172 G. A. R. and Camp 89 Sons of Veterans, will be held at 100 Springs Park than which there is no cooler nor more delightful resort in Central Pennsylvania. It is to be a grand and glorious day for the soldiers and all others who will participate. Hacks will run regularly from Tyrone, furnishing convenient transportation. Picnickers will mostly take baskets along, though those who do not care to do so, can be served with refreshments on the grounds.

A feature of the day of special interest, one which will be a decided novelty, will be the sham battle. It is expected that the firing squads of several posts from neighboring towns will be in attendance, and these combined and armed, will compose a body of infantry to meet in sham conflict the horsemen of the Sheridan Troop, Tyrone's well known cavalry company. This will be an exciting exhibition, a realistic picture of real warfare, and no one should miss seeing it.

The dancing platform, with good music, will furnish opportunity for enjoyment by followers of terpsichore. A base ball game will provide amusement for devotees of that sport. Quoits and tennis, croquet, and target practice will be amusements that will also lend pleasure to the day, all tastes being considered in the entertainment to be provided.

Grand Army day at 100 Springs Park Saturday of next week, should be a day long to be remembered. It should witness the crowding of that popular resort with people from Tyrone and neighboring towns, all bent upon enjoyment. Let there be a strong, united effort to make the occasion a success.

One Death From Yellow Fever

Quarantine, S. I., August 16.—Burt E. Hyde, who was transferred from Hoffman to Swineburne Island on Tuesday afternoon last suffering from yellow fever, died shortly after 3 o'clock this afternoon. Hyde arrived from Havana per steamer Seneca on the 12th inst. and was transferred to Hoffman Island for observation owing to the fact that he was unable to produce a certificate of acclimitization from Medical Inspector Burgess at Havana. While at Hoffman Island Hyde developed symptoms of yellow fever and was promptly transferred to the yellow fever hospital at Swineburn Island. Hopes were entertained for his recovery until this morning when he grew rapidly worse and passed away shortly after 3 o'clock this afternoon. Health Officer Doty will notify his family who reside at Rockville, Conn., the sad news of the young man's death.

THE FATAL LIGHTNING.

A Man and Two Horses Killed by a Bolt in Huntingdon County.

Huntingdon, Aug. 16.—A little black cloud hovering in the sky was the only warning the residents in the vicinity of Marklesburg had of the approach of a storm at 4 o'clock this evening,and it came with such violence and velocity that those exposed sought any near shelter in the hope of safety. The storm did not pass without appalling results, however, as the death of one man and two horses proves.

Melvin B. Crum, aged about 22 years, son of A. H. Crum, was plowing with the two horses in a field near his home. As soon as he became aware of the storm's coming he drove both horses under a huge tree, and standing beside them hoped to escape a thorough drenching. Soon there was an awful flash of lightning, which seemed to penetrate the very earth and all its surroundings, and Melvin and the two animals fell over dead. The lightning struck the tree and the awful shock is believed to have killed those under it. A big stump and huge piles of splinters are all that remain of the tree.

The fatality is a particularly sad one and will be the source of great grief to the young man's parents. The father's very recent defeat for the nomination for sheriff, coupled with this misfortune, exemplifies the truth that trouble never comes singly.

The Curse of Gold.

Three significant facts were told in the cablegrams from Europe published in the Sunday papers:

First—The condition of the working men in England, and especially in London, is constantly growing worse. Wages, already barely sufficient to support life,are being reduced still lower, and many factories are closed entirely.

Second—The Berlin Chamber of Commerce has issued its report for 1894. The general state of business is described as unfavorable, except in certain branches. It says the public show a marked tendency to buy cheap and inferior goods, which results in a depression of prices.

Third—The gold and silver reserves of the Bank of France have reached a sum in excess of $660,000,000, of which amount about $250,000,000 is in silver. This is not only the largest reserve in the world, but it has never been paralleled in the history of finance.

Great Britain and Germany are under the single gold standard.

France has a bimetallic currency and maintains the parity of gold and silver by redeeming the notes of the Bank of France in silver whenever gold is demanded for export.

It is truethat since 1873 the mints of France have not been open to the free coinage of silver, but the full legal tender five franc pieces have been kept in circulation and their debt paying quality has not been impaired, nor have they ever been spoken of as fifty cent dollars. If a French newspaper should denounce the five franc piece as dishonest the editor would be arrested immediately and punished for his crime by a long term of imprisonment.

It is scarcely necessary to say that in France a Minister of Finance would be considered an imbecile if he should propose to issue bonds to buy gold when he had $80,000,000 of full legal tender silver on hand.

And if it should become necessary for France to issue bonds at any time they would be first offered to her own people, and not given away to a syndicate at 18 per cent. less than they were worth in open market.

England and Germany are under the curse of gold.

France is blessed with genuine bimetallism.

If you are tired of looking at Mexico suppose you look at France.

FASHIONS AT NEWPORT.

Golf Waists: Riding Habits: Yatching Dresses: Fashionable Coiffures Jewelry.

Outdoor sports rank almost higher in the estimation of Newport's summer residents, than Casino dances or elegant private entertainments; consequently appropriate costumes for yatching, golf playing, horseback or bicycle riding, command a special interest. Golf waists require a perfect figure to present anything akin to a handsome appearance; as they are simply a rough-looking wool jersey, usually striped in colors across the bust and sleeves, possessing the advantage however of leaving the arms free, and that of being suitable to any dark-colored skirt. Nothing more advanced than bloomers and jacket have been so far devised for bicycle use; a daring suggestion however has been made that a bathing and bicyle suit might be combined, and that after a morning ride, a bath might be taken, without the change of costume.

ENGLISH COVERT CLOTH

is a favorite material for stylish riding habits; skirts just concealing the feet, and short cutaway jackets fastened by three buttons, with plaided vests and Derby hats. For very warm weather linen skirts are cooler, with shirt waists and straw sailors. Yatching suits exhibit no marked changes, except that skirts are often over five yards wide, and quite a preference is evinced for white duck, which with a succession of fancy fronts, bring about the effect of constant novelty; at the same time blue serge is in strong demand, and the many bicycle, riding, yatching or street suits of Pluette storm serge, attest the growing appreciation of the only genuine rain proof serge; the result of a finishing process by which the absorbent qualities of the Pluette fabrics whether serge, broadcloth or silk are entirely destroyed; consequently no water adheres to the surface, but runs off, and even if forced through does not wet the material. They are kept by all leading retailers in large cities, and after a practical test of the Pluettegoods, all of which are stamped Pluette every five yards and are only genuine when so stamped one concurs in the opinion of an eminent chemist, that the Pluette fabrics "are an honor to American manufacture and advancing science."

THE POMPADOUR STYLE.

of hairdressing belongs only to the favored few who have regular features and low, broad foreheads, itsi severity however is softened by curls over the temples, and the roll merely over the forehead. Soft, wavy coiffures seem a permanent fancy, and provided the side hair is crimped, almost any grouping of puffs or twists is admissible. An ingenious arrangement, called "The Saratoga Twist," is a small circular frame, upon which long hair is woven, and the natural hair is twisted up with the artificial, both resting on the edge of the frame, which forms a basis; giving the idea that the natural hair is very luxuriant. Another new idea is a bang, made on wires which can be expanded or compressed as occasion requires, and worn at back or front as well. Side combs when properly placed are a great addition, and small tortoise shell pins aid in preventing anything like stiffness; the foundation of stylish coiffures being an easy, graceful appearance.

A NEW BRACELET

worn at a Casino dance, consists of four large opals, set upon a delicate gold chain, and several other bracelets were of an equally slender foundation set with diamonds and emeralds alternating, about a quarter of an inch apart. A tiny diamond yacht, or a figure on horseback, (each one less than an inch long) make very pretty brooches, and a third novelty is an inch long diamond cab and horse, with golden wheels and harness. Such designs are formed of very minute stones, and are marvels of delicate workmanship.

VERONA CLARKE.

Absolute Starvation Will Face Them.

Ishpeming, Mich., Aug. 15.—It is rumored that at least one of the big Ishpeming mines has shipped its last ore for 1895 and it is believed by many that the mining companies are not averse to having the present strike continue until the close of navigation. The ore now mined and stocked will bring 50 cents or $1 more per ton next season than this year. There are 750,000 tons in Ashpeming stock piles with enough in the country to bring the figures up to an even million tons. There is already much want among the strikers and their families and, now that stores will sell for cash only, absolute starvation will face hundreds of families within a few weeks.

Swindler in the Toils.

New York, Aug. 15.—Charles S. Burt, 34 years old, a lumber dealer of One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, was arrested last night on the complaint of James Rodgers, manager of the publishing house of Maxwell, Summerville & Co., of this city. The prisoner is thought to be the leader of the gang of swindlers who robbed publishing houses out of large quantities of books, engaging themselves as agents for the firms. Burt is said to have been engaged in the lumber swindle which occurred at Williamsport, Pa., some time ago, at which time more than $200,000 was involved.

The Coming Electric Railway.

Since the combination of the Baldwin locomotive works and the Westinghouse electric company has been consummated, there is much speculation as to what the practical outcome will be. It is generally conceded by those who profess to know something, if not all, about the probabilities of electricity, that the result of this great combination means the supplanting of the locomotive by the electric motor, for two very conclusive reasons, one of which is that such motive power will cost less to operate it, the other that much greater speed for trains will be attained. In regard to the latter, 150 miles an hour is confidently talked of, and with proper equipment of roadbed and cars, there does not appear to be any serious obstacle in the way, but the difficulty will be to construct a road adapted to such speed. Cars running at the rate of 150 miles an hour, on a road practically without curves, will require cars that will keep the track, and, moreover, that will stand the terrible wear and tear to which they will be subjected. Difficulties seemingly insurmountable as those named, have been overcome. The progress made in railroading during the last fifty years furnishes a number of instances in which engineering skill and ingenuity have mastered obstacles that at first seemed equally insuperable. The most sanguine believers in the possibilities of railroading fifty years ago never for a moment dreamed that it would be brought to its present degree of perfection, and within less than half that period electrical discoveries and their appliances to a thousand and one useful and ornamental purposed have far eclipse the advances of steam, and yet we are told that we have many additional uses to which the subtle electric fluid is susceptible of application. —Phila. His Tobacco Wasn't Ruined.

"When I was farming in California," says an old Connecticut fellow. "I got ahead of Providence in the hailstone business. After I had planted my crop of tobacco I rigged up a line of poles the entire length of the field, with ropes stretched from pole to pole, and to those ropes I attached a cloth material not so stiff as a crinoline nor so flexible as cambric. By a system of pulleys anyone standing at the edge of the field could pull the main guy rope and in five seconds the entire crop would be covered by this curtain or awning. I was taken ill about this time and my physician told me I must go to California for my health, so I went, but before going I instructed my wife how to work my device and told her that whenever she saw a storm coming to cover the crop." "And so the hail never damaged your tobacco?" inquired the little man with the chin whiskers. "No, sir, never touched it. But, then, you see," he added leisurely taking a long pull at his cigar, "there wasn't any tobacco to ruin, for every time a storm came up my wife drew the curtains and the crop dried from drouth."

A Pennsylvania Geyser.

In Westmoreland county, this state there is a burning geyser. Some years ago the citizens of Weltytown bored a well for gas, but after going down 900 feet they were compelled to abandon it owing to a rush of water. Ever since that time the well has been filled with a very peculiar water. It is cold in warm weather, and in mid winter warm. It has never been known to freeze. Once a year it over flows and sends forth gas and cold water. Recently the people awoke to find the magical fountain throwing water high into the air. A fire was kindled and thrown into the foam. A blaze shot far above the tree tops, and it cannot be quenched.

A dispatch from Rio Janeiro reports Minister Thompson as at work seeking to negotiate a commercial treaty between Brazil and the United States. There is probably no truth in the report. This country has such a treaty with Brazil, which gave our people great advantages in Brazil over those of any other foreign nation. The Democrats not only abrogated the treaty throwing away millions of dollars worth of trade, and they were so discourteous about it as to imperil our good relations with that nation. To talk about negotiating a new treaty, under such circumstances, is to talk nonsense. Under the Democratic tariff bill there is nothing to give Brazil in return for any advantages conceded to the United States.

A country newspaper publisher sizes up the "span of life," as follows:

"A child is born, the doctor in attendance gets a $10 fee; the editor notes it and gets 0; it is christened and the minister gets $5, and the editor writes it up and gets 00; it marries and the minister gets another $10; the editor gets a piece of cake or 000.

"In the course of time it dies; the doctor gets from $5 to $100 and the minister perhaps gets another $5, the undertaker $25 to $50; the editor prints a notice of death and an obituary two columns long, and a set of resolutions of some lodge or organization to which the deceased belonged, and receives 0000, and then has the privilege of running a free card of thanks and a lot of poetry besides."—Ex.

A HAPPY REUNION.

Old Soldiers Spend a Pleasant Day at Clintondale Park.

The reunion of the Clinton County Veteran Association at Clintondale Thursday was attended by fully three thousand people. When the veterans and their families from Lock Haven, Flemington and Mill Hall arrived at the grove they found that the veterans from Centre county and Sugar valley had already taken possession of the grove.

In the morning a short business session was held, at which the committees to choose officers and to select a place for the next reunion were appointed, and at which the reports of the secretary and treasurer were read. In the afternoon these committees reported. The officers recommended and elected were: President, General Jesse Merrill; vice president, H. D. Loveland; secretary, G. T. Michaels; and treasurer, David Salmon. Agar's grove was chosen as the next place of meeting, the date to be determined by the executive committee.

The large assemblage was then addressed by General Fisher, of Philadelphia. The General is an old soldier himself, and besides is an eloquent speaker. He was one of the prisoners who dug his way out of Libby prison and was one of the fortunate ones to reach the Union lines without being recaptured. His recital of the escape from the prison and the hardships endured while making his way to the Union army were portrayed in thrilling lights. His address throughout was full of patriotic ardor.

Another very interesting feature of the afternoon was the oration delivered by Miss Edith E. Adams. The subject was "The Revival of interest in our Battlefields," the same that the young lady delivered on the night of the graduations at the Normal school. Many of the old soldiers were visibly affected as the fair orator depicted in graphic language the battle field scenes, and her touching allusions to those who fell during the struggle were voiced in pathetic strains. So well did Miss Adams please her hearers that she will probably receive an invitation from the Centre county veterans to deliver the same oration at the reunion that they will hold at Hunter's park in the near future.

The veterans were furnished all the music they desired. The Milltary band, of this city, the Rote and Sugar Valley bands and the Bellefonte drum corps made the woods ring with their airs, which were frequently rendered.

The refreshment stand was in charge of the Lamar M. E. church, under the direct management of H. D. Loveland. All the refreshments needed were furnished.

"A Life of the Ocean Wave."

During the "heated term"—and it has been super-heated so far this summer—"a home on the rolling deep" has many attractions; but for the average boy the sea possesses a fascination at all times, and the boys who are so fortunate as to have the opportunity to gratify their ambition "to go to sea" are usually the envied of their association. A bright and charmingly illustrated article in Demorest's Magazine for July, "The making of a Sailor" tells about the life aboard the school-ship St. Mary's where boys are trained to become thorough and expert sailors, and where work and play are so judiciously mingled that there is no danger of Jack becoming a dull boy.

Demorests for August is just as full of interest as was the July number indeed there is no magazines that are the superior of this popular family magazine which is published for $2.00 a year. Office of publication 15 East 14th steeet New York.

Newspaper Truth well Put.

Hughesville Mail: Journalism has met with a sad disaster in DuBois, Pa. Within a few months four of its newspapers have suspended publication—the Local News, the Tribune, Sunday Dispatch and Evening Gossip. The truth is the newspaper business has of late become a ruinous one, on account of the sharp competition and the nonpayment of subscriptions by many so called "subscribers." There are many people in every community able to take and support half a dozen newspapers, who are too penurious to spend a dollar in supporting their home paper. They prefer to borrow their neighbor's which they do nearly every week, and often grumble and growl because it don't mention their doings or meet with their particular views on topics discussed. Every citizen who has any respect for his town will not only aid its churches and charitable institutions, but will render valuable aid to its newspapers.

To Keep Bread Fresh.

In Swiss and German farm houses, where the baking takes place once a fortnight, or certainly at fairly long intervals, such a thing as unpleasantly stale bread is almost unknown. It is put away in a peculiar manner, which tends to preserve its freshness. Sprinkle flour freely into an empty flour sack, and into this pack the loaves; be careful to have the top crusts of two loaves touching. Where they have to lie bottom to bottom, sprinkle flour between them. Tie up the sack and hang it up in an airy place, not against a wall, but so that it can swing. The day before the loaf is wanted take it out, brush off the flour, and stand it in the cellar over night. In this way bread remains edible for three or four weeks.

Saved by a Premonition.

Newton Bradley's house on First avenue, New Haven, Conn., was wrecked by a stroke of lightning during the storm which passed over that vicinity early on Monday morning. Mrs. Bradley's husband was away and she was alone with her children when the storm broke. Impelled by some premonition of coming evil, she took her children from the bed and laid them on the floor and as she did so the lightning struck the chimney, passed into the room, striking the bed and setting it on fire. Both Mrs. Bradley and her children were somewhat shocked, but no serious result will follow.

Warren Asylum Patients.

The county commissioners have received notice from Superintendent Curwen, of the Warren asylum, informing them that the patients from this and other counties to that institution will be restricted to only recent cases of mental disorder of a few weeks' duration. This notice will not be admitted at present. Before any patient will be received a complete statement must be given of the case. This action has been rendered necessary owing to the overcrowded condition of the asylum. The institution can comfortably take care of 700, but the inmates now number more than 920.

—Labor day is not now far distant.

—A burly negro who broke into the store of William Robb at Romola last week was arrested and brought to Bellefonte and lodged in jail.

—The Phillpsburg Electric railway has been seized by the sheriff. Mr. Condo had better be careful how he handles the electric part of it.

—Rev. John A. Bright will preach in the Hublersburg church next Sunday. And his son, who is an eminent vocalist, will sing several solos.

—And now, it seems after all that the warm wave is still with us, and may linger along another day or so. But when it once gets cool, look out for a regular cold snap.

—Karstetter, the Bishop street baker, s doing a large business. The reason for this is that he makes excellent bread, and the people know it.

—A telegram received on Sunday from Niagara Falls, stated that Ed. Cowdrick is now slowly recovering from his serious attack of typhoid fever.

—Mrs. Samuel Lyon, who died August 3d in Spring township, left 10 children, 66 grand children and 34 great grand children. That is an unusually large family.

—The Democrats of Centre county mean to push C. M. Rower's nomination for a Superior Judge for all there is in it. May they be successful, is all that we can do.

—Bellefonte has in it some blooded horse stock and a number of ladies and gentlemen who know how to ride them, as is evidenced by the number out every evening.

—Mrs. George, mother of Mrs. John Anderson, of this place, died in Pittsburg on Saturday. Mr. John Anderson and daughter Clara, went on Monday to attend the funeral.

—Krumrine, the druggist, has invented a new compound for embalming the dead. If he could invent something to embalm the living and keep them from dying he would make more money.

—By a premature explosion on the new railroad near Mahaffey on Friday evening, which threw down a heavy embankment, five laborers were killed and eight more were seriously injured.

—S. H. Williams and family, having grown tired of keeping hotel in the University Inn at State College, will transfer that hostelry to another landlord and move back to Bellefonte in the very near future. While there the Williams' kept an excellent hotel.

—A negro preacher addressed his flock with great earnestness on the subject of "Miracles," as follows: "My beloved friends' de greatest of all miracles was 'bout de loaves and fishes. Dey was 5,000 loaves and 2,000 fishes, and de 12 'postle had to eat 'em all. De miracle is dey didn't bust."

—Quay is looking to the national convention and that is why he is so anxious to get control of the party machinery. Hastings and those back of him also have an eye on the next presidential race, and that's the milk in the cocoanut. Each is playing higher stakes than the petty chairmanship of a state committee.

—"Billy" Stuart has signed with Pittsburg to play short and was in his first game on Thursday with Chicago. He had ten chances and took nine of them all O. K., as well as making two hits. The Pittsburg papers say he "done elegantly. Good for "Billy," he is able to keep up in fast company.

—A young man named Crane, who resides a short distance from Tyrone, met with a thrilling encounter on Monday afternoon. He was just about to climb an apple tree in order to get some of the fruit when he felt something drawing tightly around his leg and coiling rapidly upward. It was an enormous blacksnake and Crane pulled out his pocket knife and cut the reptile in two.

—There was almost as much kicking at the ball game on Saturday as there would have been had it been a game of foot ball, instead of a game ball. Talk about your national league teams kicking, why they are not in it at all with a team made up as Saturday's was, of printers, cigar makers, painters and paper hangers. They all kicked like wild western steers, even the printers, a thing so uncommon for them to do. The score was 13 to 12 in favor of the painters and paper hangers.

—Little Jack prays every night for all the different members of the family. His father had been away at one time for a short journey, and that night Jack was praying for him, as usual. "Bless Papa, and take care of him," he was beginning as usual, when suddenly he raised his head and listened. "Never mind about it now, Lord," ended the little fellow, "I hear him down in the hall."

—Says the Philipsburg Ledger: Mr. O. Perry Jones went to Bellefonte on Wednesday by way of the Beech Creek and Central Railroad of Pennsylvania, and says it is a very nice route. You leave here at 7 o'clock a. m., and arrive at Bellefonte at about 10 o'clock.

—At Washington on Monday the postoffice department made an allowance of $1,500 for clerk hire at the Bellefonte postoffice.

—Rev. J. Green Miles will preach the closing sermon of the anniversary services in the Milesburg Bapt st church this evening at 7.30 o'clock.

—It is said that there is a large number of applicants for the position of superintendent of the gas works made vacant by the resignation of E. Kitson.

—Mrs. Lettia Munson, wife of Ex-Judge Munson, of Philipsburg, died at her home in that place on Monday evening at 5 o'clock. She was aged about 69 years.

—Mr. David Glenn is in a dilema. He has lost his "Bucktail" and don't know what he will do while attending the reunion at Lock Haven in September, unless he can find one somewhere.

—In the Philadelphia primaries held last night both sides claim victory. But this is quite natural, as it is likely that they will continue doing so until the convention is over and it has been decided who is elected chairman.

—Wednesday evening, Aug. 28, the colored home talent of Bellefonte will hold a literary entertainment and scarf drill in Garman's Opera house for the benefit of the pastor of the A. M. E. congregation.

—On Monday night some one threw a stone through one of the big windows of Col. Wilkinson's China store, breaking one of those fine large plate glass. The Col. would give a good bit to find out just who threw the stone.

—Our readers are requested to notify us if they fail to receive their papers promptly either by carriers or mail. We should consider it a favor if we are so notified because unless we learn where errors it is impossible to detect or correct them.

—Ex-Congressman Lanham addressed the Texas Democratic State Convention on "Where Is the Money of the Fortune to Come From?" What interested many of his hearers more was where they would get enough money to meet current obligations.

—With Joseph Wise as Chief Marshall, Thomas Shaughensey First Assistant, and William Rhinesmith as Second Assistant of the Bellefonte Fire Department, Bellefonte property owners can be assured of good and efficient service in time of fires.

—The free open air concert which will be given at the band festival on Friday and Saturday evenings will be something worth hearing. Our own band will play Friday evening, while the ever popular Zion band will be present on Saturday evening. Watch this paper for the program.

Candidates for the High school, along with those members of the High school classes, who have conditions to remove will report at the Brick building, Friday, Aug. 30, at 9.30 a. m. Back work must be mastered before pupils will be admitted to higher classes.

—A number of boys have put up a tent on the hill near the poor house. Several parties have complained about it to the writer, because it is in a dangerous place, as it has already been the means of scaring a number of horses, and on Tuesday one animal very nearly got away from it's driver. If as dangerous as it is said to be, the tent should be torn down.

—Tyrone had a two thousand dollar fire on Monday, the same being in the paper mill at that place. The fire originated in the gearing of the machinery in the base ment of the liquor room, and spread rapidly up to the digesting room. By the prompt and efficient work of the Tyrone fire department the flames were soon gotten under control.

—Although the attention of the Borough official has been frequently called to the destruction that is being caused to the new pavement on the diamond by the tying of horses there, as well as allowing so much water to run out by the fountain, yet no steps have been taken to avert the same and the result will be that ere long the pavement will need considerable repairing.

—Scarcely a day passes that the Pennsylvania lines do not redeem tickets which the owners have not used. Mileage books and all tickets partly used are redeemed at a small discount, and while this practice may appear like giving away money that is taken in, it does not present itself in that light to the sagacious railroad officials, who have a wise object in view in taking back tickets. The practice is rather hard on the scalpers who must pay nearly full price for all the tickets they secure from travelers.

—Have you noticed that exquisitely handsome porcelain bath tub, with pure nickle supply and waste pipes, in R. J. Schad & Bros. store on Allegheny street? It is one of the loveliest baths to be found anywhere, and any person desiring something of the kind could not do better than order this tub of this enterprising firm. The price is most reasonable for an arrangement so complete as this one is. It would be well to look and order at once, or you might miss a very good opportunity, and a great bargain.

HORRIBLY MANGLED.

How James Thompson Met Death on Saturday.

The way in which James Thompson met his death on Saturday was simply one of those accidents over which human agency has no control. The accident occurred about one mile below Coburn, and when the train was running at only fifteen miles an hour. As is usual when they have cars to put in at Coburn, they do so by making a flying switch. Thompson, with another brakeman, was on the engine, and when within one mile of Coburn, he said he would go out and get ready to put the brakes on the cars when they were run in on the siding. He started back over the tank and his fellow brakeman saw him attempt to jump from the tank to the first car. He then saw his head disappear between the tank and the car, and, watching, did not see him reappear. He then went back to see what was the matter and not seeing him anywhere, looked back and saw his body lying along the track. He at once gave the signal and the train was stopped. The men went back and found Thompson's body mutilated almost beyond recognition. His one limb was crushed and ground to atoms and his body was cut almost in two, while his head was also badly crushed.

He was tenderly gathered up and put on the train and word was at once telegraphed to this place and the train was run through as quickly as possible. On its arrival here the remains were taken in charge by undertaker Harris and removed to his establishment on Howard street, where they were put in as presentable a shape as possible before being removed to his father's home near the glass works. It is quite evident that when Thompson attempted to jump from the tank to the car he missed his footing and fell between the train. Just how many cars ran over him no one is able to tell, but it must have been quite a number.

Deceased was aged 23 years past and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thompson, living down near the glass works. His funeral took place on Sunday afternoon at five o'clock, from the Reformed church, and was largely attended, Rev. Gearhart performing the services. Interment was made in the Union cemetery. Thompson was in the Relief fund of the Pennsylvania Railroad and his parents will get $1,000 benefit. He had just applied for admission in the Brotherhood of Brakemen, but his application had not yet been acted upon.

Tragic Death of John Horner.

Everybody in Bellefonte well knows Mr. John Horner, the fruit farmer who lived near Pleasant Gap, and they will be pained to learn of his death, which occurred on Tuesday in a very tragic and sudden manner. Mr. Horner was out in the field doing some work and at nine o'clock stirred up a nest of yellow jackets. One of the little insects stung him on the lip. In a short time the lip began to swell, and so continued during the day, notwithstanding the efforts of physicians to allay the pain. In the afternoon Mr. Horner suffered the most terrible agony, until about five o'clock, when he died. Of course, there is not the least doubt but that it was a case of aggravated blood poison.

Mr. Horner was aged about 62 years, was married but had no children. At this writing we have not learned when the funeral will take place. This is the first instance on record where death was caused by the sting of so small an insect.

The Mount Lebanon Shakers recently performed a great deed of charity, although it was not designed as a charity, being nothing more nor less than an advertising scheme. It however resulted in great good just the same. They gave away 1,000 bottles of their Digestive Cordial to those suffering from stomach derangements.

It was so effective in curing those who used the remedy that they were loud in their praises of it and in consequence a large demand for the cordial was at once created.

The druggists of this town have little books that tell all about it. Digestive Cordial creates an appetite, aids digestion and brings about a rapid increase in flesh and strength.

Bitten by a Snake.

While binding oats in a harvest field on his farm at Julian Furnace last Tuesday, ex-county commissioner John C. Henderson was bitten on the right hand by a viper. He was reaching down under the sheaf when he felt a prick which he thought was from a brier. When he lifted the sheaf, however, the snake dropped out and ran into a patch of weeds. Mr. Henderson at once went to his house and sent for a doctor, but before the physician arrived the hand and arm had begun to swell frightfully. Remedies were applied and the wound was poulticed freely, and by Thursday the swelling was greatly reduced and the danger past.

—The statement in some of last week's papers saying that the Bellefonte Band would hold a tournament in company with the Lock Haven band this fall, was an error. Our band does not propose to hold any tournament or picnic this year, but gives the place to the Coleville boys. However, the Bellefonte band gives a grand free musical festival, Friday and Saturday evenings of this week. They will be assisted by the Zion band, and the whole town is invited to walk out to the public school grounds and hear the boys play, and enjoy something good.

Coxey's Naval Reserves, Etc.

On Monday afternoon there pulled in to Bellefonte a huge Conestoga wagon, all equipped and apparently well arranged for a very long journey, and seven very "jolly tars." Indeed, so well did they arrange to carry out the name that they had assumed that the people of Bellefonte really did believe that they were a part of the original "Coxey" army. The wagon was full, the horses were full and everything about the wagon was full as ticks. On a closer investigation the party proved to be a number of Tyrone's young men who were out on a little jaunt down the Bald Eagle Valley, just for pleasure, you know. There was Bob Morris, John Huston, Charley Vogt, Albert Vogt, Guy Waring, and Harry Seeds, who composed the main body of the party, and the team was driven by the irrepressible Tom Weight. The boys have provender enough along to feed them ten days or two weeks, and in that length of time they expect to make the trip down to Williamsport and return, stopping at all the principal towns along the route. If they continue having as jolly a time as they did in Bellefonte, they certainly will have no reason to complain of their outing. It is said that they are making the trip on a wager of fifty dollars made by a Tyrone saloon keeper.

Shot the Dog Real Well.

Messrs. C. H. Mitchell and W. B. Taylor, the two bicyclists who tarried in Bellefonte last Tuesday and Wednesday, arrived in Philadelphia on Sunday at 2.30 p. m. All in all they succeeded in earning $450 while on their way to that city, and as they yet have over a week in which to earn the remaining $50, it is safe to say that they will win their wager. In recounting some of their experiences to a Philadelphia Press reporter, they give quite a vivid account of an experience with a bull dog near Bellefonte. The boys say that while riding along the road they were attacked by a fierce animal and the one wheeler was dragged from his wheel. Nothing daunted, however, he pulled out his revolver and before the dog could get away he was perforated with just twelve bullets. That sounds a little wild western, but we suppose it must be true, or the boys would not have said so.

Better Roads.

It is easy to trace the general demand in a dozen and more states for better roads says the Chicago Inter Ocean, directly to the riders of the bicycle. It is one of the reforms that the new innovation is going to bring about. They will succeed first because they are united in their demand. They are young and vigorous and influential. More than that, it is a long neglected reform, in the success of which all the people will be benefitted. Stop putting any more millions into railways until the country roads are made passable. In New York a committee appointed by the legislature is visiting the various counties and leading places and trying to formulate a state system that is better than anything before practiced in any state of the Union. Other states will follow the example.

Thought It a Burglar.

On Saturday night Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Spangler heard a noise which they took to be some one trying to break in the house. From the sound they supposed that the person, whoever it was, was attempting to open the window shutter. They raised quite a racket around there for a little while, but failed to see a burglar or anyone else, for that matter. An examination of the shutter where the supposed burglars were endeavoring to gain an entrance revealed no signs of any attempt to force it open. So that it is safe to conclude that there was really more scare than there was cause for alarm.

THEY WERE ALL THERE.

Council Has a Long Session but Does Little Work.

Council convened on Monday evening with a full attendance of members present—the first in six months, perhaps.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

There were no verbal communications and the only written communication presented was one from the fire companies stating that they were unable at a recent meeting to elect a Chief Fire Marshall and assistants and leaving the matter entirely in the hands of the council.

Mr. Williams presented the request of Rev. Zehner for a grade for a gutter in front of his property on Willowbank street.

The Street committee reported the sewer from Munson's to the gas works now in a completed condition. A large sand hole was built and the wall repaired; the committee have also completed stone breaking on poor overseer orders; repaired the sewer on East Thomas street; another examination has been made of the creek by the Lamb street bridge. At this place it is estimated that it will incur an expense of about $90 to clean out the creek as it should be. Of this amount the Hale estate has agreed to pay one-third the cost, the Central R. R. Company will probably pay the one-third, leaving but about $3 as the cost that the cleaning of the creek will stand the borough. The committee also submitted the report of themselves and the Borough Engineer on the various pavements and sidewalks around town, and it was certainly a very exhaustive document; so exhaustive, in fact, that the clerk in reading it got Mrs. Bridget Bradley's name mixed up into "Mrs. Bradget Bridley."

The Water committee reported a number of repairs made; also the attachment made at the stone school house for the ventilator.

The Market committee reported $14.10 market fees collected during the past two weeks.

The Nuisance committee reported a nuisance on the Thomas property near the Electric Light works.

The Fire and Police and the Finance committees had no reports to make.

The election of a Chief Fire Marshall was then taken up, and on motion of Mr. Brockerhoff Joseph Wise was elected. On motion of Mr. Hillibish Thomas Shaughensey was elected First Assistant and William Rhinesmith Second Assistant.

The request of Rev. Zehner was referred to the Street committee with power to act.

The report of the Street committee and Borough Engineer was accepted and the clerk was instructed to serve the customary notices, giving property owners until the 20th of September to make the necessary repairs. On motion $5.00 was allowed the clerk for pay for the extra work entailed in sending out the necessary notices.

The Water committee recommended that rebates be allowed on all requests for same from parties who will not be using water the full year, said rebates to be allowed at the end of the year.

The business of the evening being then concluded, with the approval of the following bills council adjourned:
